

5 Brotherhoods Preparing for Strike Sept. 6 In Pay Dispute

Walkouts Scheduled
Different Days in Each of 4 Zones

NEGOTIATIONS FAIL

Federal Mediation May Result in 30-Day
Postponement

BULLETIN
Chicago—(AP)—Presidents of five railroad operating labor unions announced late today their organizations would take no action regarding a threatened nationwide strike pending peace proceedings by the national mediation board.

Chicago—(AP)—Presidents of unions representing an estimated 250,000 railroad operating employees continued deliberations on setting a strike date this afternoon, although in Cleveland a union chieftain announced a nationwide strike would start on Labor day.

J. A. Phillips, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, president of the order P. M. (C. S. T.) and told reporters no statement would be issued before 3 p. m. He declined comment on the Cleveland announcement although earlier he had denied a date had been agreed upon.

Cleveland—(AP)—A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, announced today that committees representing five railway brotherhoods had authorized a strike for Sept. 6 to support demands for a general 20 per cent wage increase.

Whitney said the committees, carrying on negotiations at Chicago, set 6 a. m. of Sept. 6 as the time for members of the brotherhoods to begin leaving their jobs.

The organizations involved, he added, are the trainmen, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, the Switchmen's Union of North America and the Order of Railway Conductors.

The membership of the groups totals approximately 250,000 men, Whitney said.

The nation is to be divided into four zones, Whitney added, with each walkout on a different day of the strike to become entirely effective by Sept. 9.

Details as to the zone boundaries, he said, are to be worked out today. Broadly, they would be the eastern, northwestern, southwestern and southern sections.

Federal mediation, which may be requested by either side in the dispute, would automatically postpone the strike for 30 days. The national arbitration board, failing to arbitrate the dispute, may request the president to create an emergency arbitration committee which must report within 30 days. Neither side may take action until a 30-day decision has elapsed after its decision.

"I received word of the hour and date for the start of the strike from my Chicago office," Whitney explained. "All our representatives there are in agreement."

"We are now taking care of the details of the strike here and instructions will be sent out in circular form later today."

UP TO WASHINGTON

Chicago—(AP)—Hopes of forestalling a nationwide strike of 350,000 operating railroad workers apparently rested today upon federal mediation machinery.

Three weeks of conferences between brotherhood representatives and a committee of 15 acting for 86 major railroads ended yesterday in a flat refusal of the unions' petition for a 20 per cent pay hike.

Union spokesmen said a strike call had been sanctioned by 97 per cent of the workers in the event a satisfactory adjustment was not obtained.

Teachers' Federation Votes Campaign Fund

Madison—(AP)—The American Federation of Teachers voted today to raise $25,000 for a national organizational drive and authorized its executive council to engage full-time organizers.

The fund will be raised by a levy of $1 per member to be raised by the local unions in whatever way they choose.

AIRS STRIKE PLAN

A. F. Whitney (above), president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, announced today at Cleveland that committees for five brotherhoods had authorized a strike, beginning at 6 o'clock the morning of Sept. 6, in support of demands for a 20 per cent wage increase.

Shaw's Death Is Attributed to Natural Causes

Aggravated by Small
Injections of Poison, Coroner's Jury Finds

Richland Center, Wis.—(AP)—Deputy Coroner R. C. Hoskins, Richland county, said yesterday a six-man coroner's jury decided Orla Shaw died of natural causes aggravated by small injections of poison in some unknown manner taken prior to his coming to Richland Center.

Shaw, uncle of 15-year-old Harold Best who Sheriff Oliver White, Crawford county, said confessed to the slaying of his sister, Mildred, 11, died in a Richland Center hospital two weeks after Mildred was found dead in bed in the Shaw home in Soldiers Grove.

The jury deliberated for a little more than an hour after hearing testimony for almost eight hours yesterday. Shaw's widow, Mrs. Lillian Shaw, Leon Shaw, a brother, and Ernest Shaw, the father, as well as neighbors of the Shaw family were present.

Hoskins said the testimony of Drs. S. B. Pessin, Harold Best, C. H. Bunlin and Frank L. Kozelka, all of Mauston, indicated that the poison might have hastened Shaw's death, but that Shaw would have died had none entered his body.

The inquest was ordered after a post-mortem examination disclosed traces of poison in Shaw's body. Best declared Shaw had treated boils with a remedy containing poison.

Harold has been held in custody of Sheriff Oliver White since June 5, the day after Mildred's death.

ASKS BOY'S FREEDOM

Madison—(AP)—Attorney Carl N. Hill, counsel for Harold Best, 15, held in the Crawford county jail on a delinquency charge, said today he will go to Prairie du Chien early next week in an effort to speed up disposition of the case.

Hill said he again would ask Judge Jeremiah O'Neil and District Attorney James P. Cullen to give the boy his freedom. Harold is in custody as a result of the fatal shooting at Soldiers Grove June 4 of his sister, Mildred, 11.

"If authorities there still insist on prosecution, I will demand a jury trial," Hill said. "Jury hearings are being ordered in juvenile cases, but there is no denial of that privilege in the law."

9 Counties Adopt Traffic Program

West Bend, Wis.—(AP)—Authorities of nine southeastern Wisconsin counties adopted a 10-point highway traffic enforcement program yesterday which they said will go into effect at once.

The program was given as follows:

1. Stop vehicles on secondary highways only.
 2. Request that drivers' licenses be shown upon being stopped.
 3. See that the license is properly signed.
 4. Demand that those without licenses report back to the traffic department either with a license or application for same.
 5. Check headlights to see that both filaments are burning and that tail light is working properly.
 6. These checks should be made in daylight to avoid creating traffic hazards.
 7. Use the equivalent of one day each week for this work, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.
 8. Query motorists on state headlight dimming law.
 9. Query drivers on accident reports.
 10. Observe conditions of brakes.
- The nine counties represented at the meeting were Racine, Kenosha, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Calumet, Fond du Lac, Washington, Dodge and Waukesha.

Think Martin Wins in First Roll Call Vote

U. A. W. Ballot Considered
Test of Factional
Strength

CHALLENGE RULING

Controversy Over Procedure
Stalemates Convention Business

Milwaukee—(AP)—Hungry delegates to the United Automobile Workers' convention recessed for lunch this afternoon before learning the result of the first roll call vote on what was regarded as a test of factional strength.

The vote, on the question of sustaining or defeating a parliamentary ruling by President Homer C. Martin required more than two hours. Unofficial tabulators among the delegates estimated Martin was sustained by a 57 to 43 ratio.

The official vote counters were only half through tabulation when the recess was taken until 2:45 p. m.

Milwaukee—(AP)—The first test of factional strength at the United Automobile Workers' convention was brought forth today by a demand for a roll call vote on a challenge to a parliamentary ruling by President Homer Martin.

It was the first roll call vote since the strike-torn convention began Monday.

Controversy over parliamentary procedure stalemated business of the convention at the outset of today's session.

Martin called for the long awaited report of the key constitution committee whose chairman, David Dow of Flint, Mich., began submitting articles, with revisions, one by one after explaining the committee had attempted to "completely build a new constitution because the union was grown up now."

Only the first article was approved. It established the official name of the union.

The name—International Union, United Automobile Workers of America—remains unchanged.

Debate flared over the second article, listing the union's objects in the same language as the original constitution.

Several delegates asked whether a minority report would be heard. One minority member said there was no objection to the article in question.

Martin, who heads the "progressive" faction opposed by the "unity" group, ruled that the article should be voted upon by one, with the delegates having the privilege of speaking for or against.

Robert Kanter of Detroit, a unity supporter, challenged Martin's ruling and asked suspension of the rules "in the name of democratic procedure and to avoid saying a gag rule has been applied."

As for support, Martin flared over the convention would work to get through with its business, that rules had been adopted for that purpose. He asked the chair be supported in the "name of conserving time, money and energy."

The roll call, on the question of sustaining or reversing Martin, then began.

The dynamic figure of CIO Chief John L. Lewis loomed today over the strike-torn United Automobile Workers' convention scene as new outbursts of disruption ripped through harmony efforts of his lieutenants.

Announcement that Lewis would address the delegates tomorrow morning came last night at the height of bitter charges and counter charges of obstructive tactics.

The uproar in the debate over President Martin's charge the convention was being "embarrassed" by "obstructionists using obstructive tactics" turned to cheers when Martin revealed Lewis would appear.

Dyer Convicted Of Slaying Three California Girls

Death Penalty Mandatory
When Jury Fails to Recommend Mercy

Los Angeles—(AP)—A jury convicted Albert Dyer, 32, today of murdering three young Inglewood girls and made no recommendation for life imprisonment. This means the death penalty for him is mandatory.

The jury of seven men and five women received the case at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, but apparently spent most of its actual deliberation time in argument over whether to recommend life imprisonment.

Dyer was accused of slaying Melba and Madeline Everett, 9 and 7, and Jeanette Stephens, 8, in a sex frenzy last June 26 after luring them from Centinela park in Inglewood to the Baldwin hills on a supposed rabbit hunt.

He confessed the slayings in detail but later repudiated his confessions and pleaded innocent upon arraignment.

Public defenders assigned to represent him contended the state's case, without the confessions was inadequate and that the confessions were contradictory.

LaCrosse Council Fight Is Ended

Mayor Announces He Will
Reappoint Present
City Engineer

La Crosse—(AP)—John H. Barth, present city engineer, will be reappointed to that post at the September council meeting, Mayor C. A. Boerner announced last night at a council committee session.

The mayor's about-face in the appointment, which he previously had flatly refused to make since last May, came after Barth answered before the committee, charges filed in a communication to the council by Mayor Boerner a week ago.

Alderman William P. Roelzig, council spokesman, declared that Boerner sought cooperation with the council, and that he was doing nothing to obtain it by opposing Barth when nearly all the 21 aldermen demanded him.

After Barth answered the charges, one by one, Dr. A. R. Kemper, alderman, introduced a motion that Boerner's charges of inefficiency be expunged from the records, and it was passed.

Fascist Army In Possession Of Santander

Insurgent Leaders Claim
Half of Government
Forces Held in Trap

WAR NEARING CLOSE?

Anarchy, Pillaging and Famine Ruled City Before
Capitulation

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Border—(AP)—Insurgent columns rode proudly into Santander today in formal occupation of the government's last important city on the northwest Spanish coastal ledge.

The city was hung with the red and gold flags of Spain's insurgency. The streets were jammed with cheering Santanderese. Formal occupation came at 11:45 a. m.

Insurgent sources estimated that about half of the Spanish government's defeated army of some 50,000 was caught in a 15-mile-square trap in the rolling country south-east of Santander, still unaware that "the city of perpetual spring" had capitulated.

The defense of the Biscayan seaport had been shattered by 12 days of swift thrusts by Generalissimo Franco's far superior war machine—a defeat that may decide Spain's 13-month-old civil war conflict.

Flight into France
Tales of anarchist terror in the conquered city, of thirst and hunger, of pillage and shooting in the streets reached the French shores of the Bay of Biscay.

Fleeing men, women and children streamed into France on any craft that could carry them over the water. The sea was the only escape from Santander. Even there Franco's navy was on patrol. Hundreds of refugees jammed into row-boats, using sheets for sails and boards for oars, to make their escape.

Supporting columns occupied Ramales and Ampuero to complete encirclement of those parts of the government army that had not already surrendered or fled to the west before the insurgents plugged the route to Oviedo province.

Fifteen thousand government militiamen had surrendered in Santander, insurgent headquarters said. They bowed to demands for capitulation made by members of the city's police yesterday when the first insurgent spearhead was shoved against the city's western fringe.

Santander's stubborn but futile defenders in the hill country, bordered by lines between the provincial capital, Laredo on the coast to Santander's east, Ramales to the southeast and Villacarriedo to the south, were at the mercy of "mop up" units of Franco's sprawling army of 100,000 men.

New Suspect Arrested In Roberts Slaying

Milwaukee—(AP)—Police last night arrested a new suspect in the Joyce Roberts murder case. Police said the man—fat, 28, and with sandy hair—had been under surveillance for some time as the man at whose west side home a missing 14-year-old girl stayed for three weeks prior to Aug. 15.

Police said the newest suspect in the July 31 murder of the 11-year-old Roberts girl had frequented Bradford beach, from which the victim was lured to her death, and admitted seeing the girl there. He told police he also saw the "fat man" police believe raped and strangled Joyce. The authorities, however, believe he may be the fat man himself.

British Ambassador to China Seriously Hurt In Jap Aerial Attack

U. S. and British Plans To End War Fail to Impress Tokio

WILL 'PUNISH' CHINA

'Situation Will Inevitably Become More Intense'

Tokio—(AP)—Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye declared today Japan did not consider American and British proposals to end the Sino-Japanese war of much importance. But at the same time Foreign minister Koki Hirota instructed the Japanese ambassador to China, Shigeru Kawagoe, to extend Japan's warmest sympathy to Sir Hugh Knatchbull, Huggessen, the British ambassador, who was wounded gravely by Japanese airplane bullets at Shanghai today.

The premier made the statement after a consultation with Prince Kimmochi Saionji, the last of Japan's elder statesmen, on the undeclared war between the two great Oriental powers.

Referring by name to United States Secretary of State Hull and his expressed wish that both China and Japan cease fighting, and to the British proposal to create a neutral zone around Shanghai, the premier said:

"Lack of Understanding"
"I think all these are the result of the powers' lack of proper understanding of Japan's position. Japan does not attach much importance to these proposals from foreign powers."

The premier added that he expected repercussions of the war abroad would result in further moves by foreign powers.

Prince Konoye said that he had explained to the elder statesman that unless the Chinese reconsider "the situation will inevitably become more intense."

"The government at present entertains no intention of resorting to diplomatic means of settlement. We favor a comprehensive punitive campaign against China. There is scant possibility diplomatic negotiations will be resumed between China and Japan."

"The most important thing now is the punishment of the Chinese by force. However, Japan desires the situation settled at the earliest possible moment by any means."

"It appears the Chinese are planning to protract the conflict in order to weaken Japan in a military way. It is necessary to take the proper precautions to offset such maneuvers."

Elizabethtown, N. Y.—(AP)—Smiling John Montague, Hollywood's most famous glib to go, today was released on $25,000 bail, pending trial of a seven year old robbery charge by a New York supreme court justice who termed him a "modern Jean Valjean."

In making the ruling, Justice O. Byron Brewster said:

"It seems impossible that you may now escape any penalty which the law may finally exact from you, and I think I may add, your history for the past six or seven years seems to indicate to me that you will be willing to meet the charge here in a fair, upright, honest and courageous manner."

A milling crowd of spectators that included both natives of this little Adirondack mountain resort town and summer visitors jammed the small courtroom, where John Montague's body once lay in state, as Montague appeared, apparently without anxiety, before the bar.

Justice Brewster explained that there would be no restrictions as to where Montague might go, pending arraignment set for Sept. 7.

District Attorney Thomas McDonald said that trial probably would take place the week of Oct. 11, the regular term of Essex county court.

Roosevelt Signs Bill
To Plug Tax Loopholes

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt signed today the measure to close loopholes in the income tax law.

The measure, requested by the president to curb what he termed tax evasion and avoidance, is expected by experts to increase tax revenues by from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year.

The White House made public a letter from acting Secretary Taylor of the treasury saying his department was "happy to recommend prompt approval of this bill which will operate to close a number of serious loopholes in revenue laws through which large amounts of revenue have been lost and still larger amounts would have escaped in the future."

France Takes Firm Stand on Blockade

Paris—(AP)—France will not recognize the right of blockading Japanese warships to search foreign ships in Chinese waters, sources close to the foreign office said today.

These persons pointed out that international law prescribes a nation first must declare war and notify neutrals of its intention to create such a blockade. There will be "international difficulties" if Japan starts halting and searching foreign shipping without making such declarations, they added.

COMPANION IS HURT

Japanese Threaten to Extend Blockade to
Other Powers

Shanghai—(AP)—The Sino-Japanese war took a grave international turn today when Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Huggessen, the British ambassador to China, was seriously wounded by an attack from Japanese warplanes.

The automobile in which the ambassador was riding from Nanking to Shanghai was attacked by two Japanese bombers near Shanghai. He was seriously wounded by spraying machine gun bullets and was rushed to a Shanghai hospital.

Surgeons found a bullet had broken his back but left the spinal cord unscathed. They said his condition was exceedingly critical and that he might not recover.

Soon after the ambassador's arrival at the hospital he was given blood transfusions and appeared to rally somewhat.

Sir Hughes' chauffeur said the attacking plane flew so low that the Japanese ensign on its wings was clearly visible and that the flier must have been able to see the British flags.

Confidential sources flooded into the hospital from Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, Shanghai's Mayor Yui and from the Japanese admirals now in command here.

May Extend Blockade
The wounding of the British ambassador was the second rapid international development today in the undeclared war between the two great Oriental powers.

This morning Japanese naval authorities threatened to include American and other foreign shipping in the 800-mile blockade established along China's coast to bolster the hard-pressed attack of her land troops in their drive against Shanghai.

In Tokio Premier Fumimaro Konoye declared Japan considered British and American efforts to halt the fighting in the Shanghai area as of little importance.

Sir Hughes rushed from Shanghai to Nanking aboard the British destroyer Westcott on July 14 in an effort to forestall the spread of hostilities between the two powers.

Strove for Peace
He arrived there on July 16 and immediately went into conference with Wang Chung-hui, the Chinese foreign minister. He remained in Nanking until yesterday, keeping in constant touch with the developments.

The 51-year-old diplomat has been ambassador to China since 1936, when he was transferred from minister to Iran.

British officials took an exceedingly grave view of the attack on the ambassador and immediately lodged a strong protest with the Japanese government.

Sir Hughes was accompanied by Lieutenant Colonel W. A. Lovat-Fraser, British military attaché who was knocked senseless by an exploding bomb, and E. L. Hall-Patch, the financial representative of the British government in China.

British Flag Ignored
Despite the fact the automobile carried a large British flag, the Japanese planes dived low and peppered the occupants with machine gun bullets about 50 miles from Shanghai.

Lovat-Fraser immediately jumped out of the car to see the reason for the attack and one of the Japanese planes looted a bomb which missed the wounded ambassador but knocked Lovat-Fraser senseless.

J. B. Powell, Chicago Tribune correspondent on the war front, was jolted but unharmed when huge Japanese shell splinters smashed into his automobile, which was flying the American flag.

Teacher Tenure Case Trial Due To Open Sept. 7

Involves Discharge
Through Abolition of School Department

Madison—(AP)—Circuit Judge A. C. Hoppman today scheduled trial for Sept. 7 in the suit of Frank M. Karnes, former head of the manual arts department of the Oshkosh State Teachers' college, which involved the question of whether the tenure law permits discharge of teachers through abolition of a school department.

Karnes, who lost his job Sept. 4, 1934, filed suit against the board of normal school regents demanding reinstatement and back pay with interest. Back pay to the present time would total approximately $12,000.

He provided the suit on a state law prohibiting that persons who have taught continuously in Wisconsin Teachers' colleges for three consecutive years shall be considered permanent employees and cannot be discharged except for cause cited in formal charges.

William H. Spohn, Madison recently was named special counsel for the regents and will oppose Karnes' demand.

Karnes was employed at the Oshkosh college 20 years and previously taught in schools at Kenosha and Wauwatosa.

Party Girl Accused
Of Withholding Data

Chicago—(AP)—Grace Snyder, 21-year-old blonde party girl who witnessed the moonlight slaying of her escort in Grant park, faced police interrogators again today after submitting to lie detector tests.

Lieutenant Thomas P. Kelly said the tests showed that Miss Snyder was "withholding information" about the murder of Herbert W. Lee.

Still attired in the black velvet evening gown she was wearing Sunday evening when one of two men fired a bullet into Lee's head, Miss Snyder underwent two hours of questioning last night at Northwestern University Crime Detection laboratory.

When Leonard Keeler, laboratory director, questioned her concerning her avowed love for Lee, the night club hostess wept and became hysterical.

Lee, until his death known as Robert F. Burns, respected business man in suburban Evanston, was shot as he and Miss Snyder strolled in the near-loop park.

Illinois Not Waging
License War, Claim

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—The automobile department of the secretary of state's office said today that the Illinois reciprocal motor vehicle law was being enforced but that "no license war" was being waged with Wisconsin.

Wisconsin officials said that commercial truckers a filing fee, a permit fee and a flat or mileage weight tax, while a person hauling his own products should pay a fee of $2 and a flat or mileage weight tax on a load of 8,000 pounds or more.

Under the reciprocal agreement, Illinois must enforce the same requirements upon Wisconsin truckers entering this state except that persons hauling their own produce are required to pay only a flat or mileage weight tax, officials said.

They added that all highway officers aid in enforcement of the law but disclaimed knowledge of a concentration of patrolmen along the Illinois-Wisconsin border, saying that officers in the area were probably making a "cleanup."

18 Chinese Slain
For Espionage on Behalf of Tokio

Nanking—(AP)—The Chinese government announced tonight that 18 persons, including 3 women, had been convicted of "espionage on behalf of the enemy" and executed. All were Chinese.

Four of the 18 were physicians who had trained in Japan. One was a newspaper man, serving an obscure news agency.

All but one were accused of furnishing military information to the Japanese. That one was said to have divulged the Chinese government's decision to block the lower Yangtze river, which was done to prevent Japanese warships from ascending the river to attack Nanking.

Work Progresses On Addition to County Asylum

Expect New $130,000
Structure to be Ready
For Occupancy Jan. 1

Workmen building the $130,000 addition to the Outagamie county asylum are expected to finish the third floor of the new structure this week. About 25 men, including masons, general laborers, electricians, plumbers and steam fitters are working on the building, which will be completed about Jan. 1, according to Raymond N. LeVe, architect.

The building will house administration offices, quarters for the superintendent and his family and asylum employees, recreation room, hospital and dining rooms for the inmates. Lannon stone is being used for the exterior of the building, which is 100 by 125 feet, three stories high and has a basement. Brick backup also is being used. The interior will include plastered walls.

Three types of flooring are being used in the addition: clay tile, rubber tile and asphalt tile. The bathrooms are being finished in vitrolite, wainscoting and the Otis Elevator company is installing an elevator. Construction of the roof of the building will be started next week and it is hoped to have the building enclosed to leave only interior work to be done when the weather grows colder.

Order New Hearing on Plea to Abandon Railroad

Madison—Application of the Wisconsin and Michigan Railroad company to abandon its line from Iron Mountain, Michigan, to Marinette and Menominee, Michigan, has been reopened for further hearing, the federal interstate commerce commission has informed the state public service commission.

Another hearing on the proposed abandonment had been requested by the state commission, the Marinette Chamber of Commerce, the Menominee, Michigan, board of supervisors, and the city of Menominee.

No definite date for the new hearing has been set, the state commission announced yesterday. The original hearing in the matter was held jointly by the federal and state commissions in May of this year in Marinette, and because the two cities involved were not ready to cross-examine upon the company's testimony and present their objections to the suggested abandonment, the Wisconsin commission joined with the objectors in asking for further hearing.

Their niece and nephew, Evelyn and Orvis Timm, who were riding with them, were also brought to the local hospital for examination and treatment of minor injuries.

Visit At Clintonville
Dr. and Mrs. William F. Meggers and children, Jane, William and John of Washington, D. C., are visiting this week with the former's mother, Mrs. Peter Monty, and his sister, Mrs. August Bleck, in this city. Dr. Meggers, who spent his early life in Clintonville, is now associated with the bureau of standards at the national capital. His Meggers have also visited relatives at Shawano and upon leaving here next week will begin an extensive motor trip through the southern states. Visits will be made at St. Louis and New Orleans, after which they will travel east to the Atlantic coast.

Mrs. Monty and Mrs. Bleck entertained a group of friends Wednesday evening at their home on Waupaca street in honor of the guests. The affair was in the form of a "movie party," as the family has collected many interesting films from their numerous trips.

On Thursday evening, they will entertain members of the 1936 graduation class of Clintonville high school, of which Dr. Meggers was a member. He completed a four year course in chemistry at Ripon college, after which he was appointed to a civil service position.

Mr. and Mrs. Noyes Matteson, who formerly lived on a farm about one mile east of Clintonville, are visiting friends here this week. Mr. and Mrs. Matteson have been spending the last few years in the south and recently came to Wisconsin to attend the "trailer convention" at Keshena. While in the north, they are also making visits with their daughters in Iowa and Minneapolis and with their son, Lynn Matteson, and family at Milwaukee.

Mrs. Harold Stafford and daughters Marjorie and Sally left Tuesday for their home at Minneapolis after spending a week with her parents. Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Pomrenje.

Jardine Favors U. S. Purchase of 50 Million Bushels of Potatoes

Waupaca—In a letter to H. B. Tabb, executive secretary of the National Potato association, J. F. Jardine, president of that organization expressed his ideas with reference to the plan that the federal administration has in mind regarding the 1937 potato crop which is nearly 50,000,000 bushels too large for satisfactory prices to growers.

"If this 50,000,000 bushels are purchased by the government and not used for human consumption, and purchased on a basis of 50 cents per cwt., or 30 cents a bushel, it would only cost $15,000,000, which would be a relatively small amount compared with the total value," he wrote. "No plan of government buying will do much good if the potatoes still go into human consumption. . . . If a certain percentage of the supply is taken out of human consumption, there would have to be some concrete evidence of its being taken out and in addition those taken out should be used for some useful by-products of potatoes that would not deteriorate would be starch and alcohol."

"The transportation of potatoes to centralized starch or alcohol plants would be too expensive. About the only other use for potatoes in their present form would be stock food and fertilizer, neither of which would have any great value. Three hundred bushels of potatoes would probably have an approximate value of $5 as a fertilizer which would not permit to very much transportation."

"One of the big advantages of taking 50,000,000 bushels out of supply for human consumption would be the raising of the standard of the other 350,000,000 bushels to a very high degree."

"Working out the mechanics of eliminating these 50,000,000 bushels would be the real problem." In order to eliminate waste of effort all or certain warehouses could be licensed to certify to the destruction of growers potatoes for human use. Practically all warehouses have either electric or gasoline powered. Root cutters could be installed in these warehouses to cut up these potatoes (that should probably be of interior quality) giving same back to the grower along with a certificate of the number of pounds destroyed. The grower or his neighbors could then use these chipped up potatoes for either stock food or fertilizer.

"The grower would turn in the weights of the potatoes destroyed for human consumption to the county soil conservation committee who would also certify as to the correctness, providing the grower agreed to cut his acreage ten percent for the following year."

"This may be just as crazy as some of the other plans suggested but it would put a good many dollars in the pockets of potato growers."

From a shipper's standpoint Mr. Jardine would like to have the market start on a low level so chances for advances would be greater than declines, but if his scheme were to be put into operation it would insure the shipper of putting up a quality pack which it is not always possible for him to do because of competition.

Mr. Jardine, who was present at a public hearing at Waupaca Tuesday called for the purpose of receiving evidence as to the general economic conditions prevailing in the growing and handling of potatoes, is not only a potato grower and distributor, but as a member of the Jardine Farms Corporation has made a hobby of rehabilitating worn out farms. His activity in that direction comprises supervision of 800 acres of old farm lands in the townships of Dayton and Lind.

OFFERS PLAN
John F. Jardine (above), Waupaca, has suggested a plan to the National Potato association, of which he is president, under which the federal government would buy 50,000,000 bushels of potatoes, stock feed and fertilizer, in order to reduce the surplus for human consumption. He estimated the cost of such a plan at about $15,000,000.

Heavy Demand for Chickens Results
In Acute Scarcity

Chickens are scarcer than at any time in several years, Appleton dealers reported yesterday. The scarcity has been acute for about a month. At this time of the year chickens are usually hard to get, dealers said, but the condition this year has been exceptional. The Outagamie Equity Exchange reported that supplies of chickens have been coming in between 50 and 75 per cent of normal.

The use of chicken in preference to paying high prices for other meats, the buying of chickens by taverns in excess of other years, and the fact that many farmers are too busy threshing to bring their usual loads to town—all were given as reasons for the shortage by local dealers.

Board Agrees to Buy Land Along Entrance to Park

Sanatorium Sewer Proposal
Also Discussed at Little Chute

Little Chute—At the regular meeting of the village board Tuesday evening, the village president and the secretary and treasurer of the water department were authorized to attend a hearing of the water commission at Madison Sept. 9 at 10 o'clock in the morning. Several important questions in regard to municipal water departments are to be discussed.

General and water accounts were read and referred to the finance committee. The village board agreed to purchase a strip of land five feet wide and the length of two lots from Mrs. Henry Van Gompel, Wilson street, for village use. This land is along the road leading into the village park on the west end of Canal street.

Several business men of the village were present at the meeting to get permission to close the north end of Grand avenue one day a month. This day is to be set aside as fair day. The board agreed to close the street for that purpose. Traffic will be able to get through and persons living on north Grand avenue will still be able to get out another direction.

Several members of the board are planning to attend the League of Wisconsin Municipalities convention which will be held in Fond du Lac Sept. 16 and 17. A petition for a street light on the corner of North and Washington streets was read and referred to the chairman of the street and light committee for further action.

At a special meeting of the board on Aug. 16 the trustees of River-view Sanatorium were present to discuss some agreement with the village in regard to connecting their sewer system with the village sewer. Thereby the village will be able to drain all the sewage from the sanatorium into the sewage disposal plant. A. E. McMahon, engineer, presented a plan and an estimate of a pumping station limited cost of a pumping station which the sanatorium would have to erect. The village was also given an estimated cost as to what expense they would have in laying the sewer pipe to meet with that of the sanatorium. An agreement will be drawn for both parties. The local board and trustees will meet in the near future to come to a definite agreement. The next meeting of the board will be held Sept. 7.

The Little Chute public grade school will open Aug. 30. The teachers are: Miss Margaret Jenny, principal; Misses Catherine Garvey and Margaret Koehn, primary and kindergarten.

The regular meeting of the members of the Benevolent society will be held the second Monday in September instead of the first Monday, because of Labor day, at the home of Mrs. Ernest J. Miron, Lincoln avenue. The business meeting will be followed by cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Jansen of Minneapolis, Minn., are visiting for a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Jansen, Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dingman, Pontiac, Mich., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lamers. Little Chute. Mrs. Dingman is a daughter of Nick Lamers, formerly of this place.

Henry Bastjan, 1314 N. Superior street, engineer at Roosevelt Junior High school, returned to his home yesterday from St. Elizabeth hospital where he underwent an operation several weeks ago.

Many Segregated Trusts are Liable For State Costs

Loomis Upholds Banking Commission Right to Assess for Examinations

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — All segregated trusts created through the stabilization and readjustment or reorganization of banks, subject to the joint supervision of the state banking commission, the circuit courts, and the trustees of the trusts, are liable for the costs of examination and supervision of such trusts by the state banking commission, Attorney General Orland S. Loomis ruled today in a case involving the Farmers Exchange bank of Green Bay.

Loomis was asked for an opinion by the banking commission after the trustees of the Green Bay bank, through their attorneys, had protested a statement for $93.83 submitted by the state banking officials, as expense incurred in examination of a trust of the bank. Bank trustees, in their attorneys' protest, claimed that the banking commission had no jurisdiction over this particular trust, which they held is a private one, that the payment of the claim would make the trustees personally liable for dissipation of the trust assets.

Attorneys for the bank argued that "the trust under consideration is private in nature and is not so affected with a public interest as to justify regulation of it by an administrative tribunal under the police power of the state."

"Any attempt to regulate or alter," the protest went on, "the terms of the trust 'amounts to an impairment of vested rights and of the obligation of contract.'"

"Courts not Equipped"

In his opinion upholding the assessment of the banking commission, Loomis wrote that the banking commission was intended by the legislature to have joint supervision with the local circuit courts over such segregated bank trusts. "The courts are not adequately equipped or possessed of the necessary technical knowledge and experience in reference to banking matters in order to actively supervise these trusts and therefore the duty of looking after the best interests of all parties fell largely upon the banking commission."

Not only were the interests of the depositors and creditors thus best served "but the institution of banking and the economic situation were such, that the interests of the public demanded it in order that general confidence might be restored and retained," the attorney general said.

The banking commission has asked the attorney general's department to start action to collect the assessment against the Green Bay bank.

Improve Methods Of Shipping Fruit

Fresh Foodstuffs Moved Thousands of Miles to Meet City Demand

Nearly one-third of the more than 70,000 carloads of fresh fruits and vegetables sold last year on the Chicago market, a typical American big city, with year-around demand for fresh products, traveled more than 2,000 miles and arrived in near-perfect condition, according to R. C. Swanson, county agent. Much of this success is due to shipping and storage tests of the United States Department of Agriculture, he stated.

Even though Chicago is centrally located, the vegetables in a simple combination salad may have traveled more than 5,000 miles. Tomatoes from Florida, lettuce from California, and onions from the Rio Grande valley, all arrive in good condition as a result of better knowledge of packing and refrigeration.

Most fresh fruits and vegetables are now available throughout the year in most large cities and in many smaller ones. Even strawberries and watermelons, once available for only a short period

CIO Affiliation Is Held in Abeyance At Teachers' Meet

Madison — (U)—The question of CIO affiliation was held in abeyance temporarily today by the American Federation of Teachers, but the convention adopted a principle of industrial unionism by instructing its executive council to study possibilities of uniting teacher locals with other educational employees.

A resolution so instructing the council was introduced by the Detroit local and adopted by acclamation.

The affiliation committee met again this noon to draft a new resolution designed to harmonize conflicting views regarding the CIO and A. F. of L. and leave the issue to a membership referendum.

Arnold Shukloff, New York, chairman of the academic freedom committee, advised delegates today that "you can't look to the courts to protect academic freedom."

He said the experience of A. F. of L. locals, in cases in which they charge discrimination against teachers, has been that "not one of the courts would correct injustices and that in one or two cases the courts went a little bit farther than the school board."

Blames Roosevelt Drive for Court Changes for "Failure" of Session

Wausau — (U)—Charles F. Smith, keynote speaker at the 1936 state Republican convention, declared in a letter made public today that the last congressional session was a "tragically expensive failure" and placed responsibility for it upon what he said was President Roosevelt's "astounding attempt to destroy the supreme court by packing it with six 'yes' men in order to make this a one-man government."

Smith's letter was addressed to Charles E. Broughton of Sheboygan, Democratic national committeeman.

Smith detailed what he said were Roosevelt administration failures and then attacked the president's position on the court issue. He said the appointment of Senator Black to the supreme court "has evidently split the Democratic party into what might well be called black Democrats versus white Democrats."

Mechanics, Auto Dealers Fail to Agree on Wages

Strike Parley at Standstill With Participants Deadlocked

Deadlocked upon proposed wage scales, the parley between striking auto mechanics and Tri-City Motor, Inc., Appleton and Neenah, was recessed yesterday until Tuesday morning at the city hall. Conference was begun last Friday in an effort to settle the month-old strike affecting garages in Neenah, Appleton and Kaukauna with H. Herman Rauch, regional director of the Wisconsin State Labor Relations board, presiding.

The Appleton Trades and Labor council last night went on record as deploring the action of the police department in stationing a patrolman where picketing is being continued and pledged its support to the auto mechanics union. An appropriation was voted to pay pickets $2 a day. Leaders said today support of Green Bay, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac Trades and Labor councils had been assured and Manitowoc and Sheboygan groups would be enlisted.

Bargaining

Bargaining was started last week after a joint conference of auto dealers and union representatives was held with 14 garages represented. Nine of the garage owners agreed to negotiate with the union while five left it to the labor relations board to determine whether the union had a majority in their shops. Rauch said no determination will be made until agreements are reached with the nine garages willing to bargain. Other car dealers attended the sessions and it was said individual agreements would be patterned after conclusions agreed upon by the Tri-City Motors and the union.

Members of the auto mechanics union will meet Friday evening at Trades and Labor hall to discuss the situation and dealers are expected to meet before the conference are resumed Tuesday morning at the city hall. Progress was evidenced the first two days of consultation but the participants failed to agree on wages and seniority rights, it was said.

Deplore Police Action

The Trades and Labor council voiced the following resolution last evening:

"The Trades and labor council deploras the action of the police department of the city of Appleton in maintaining a policeman carrying a riot club at the entrance of non-union garages where the union is conducting a strike.

"We declare that organized labor in Appleton has the right to picket citizens and are carrying on a lawful strike. We declare the laws of the state of Wisconsin and the United States gives us the right to picket these unfair places of business without the influence of the police department.

"We also declare that it is unfair to the taxpayers and citizens of Appleton to permit our police department to station a special policeman at the private places of business at the expense of the taxpayers without just cause.

"We demand immediate removal of the police guard and their riot clubs."

In reasserting support of the auto mechanics union, the Trades and Labor council appealed to union members to "render moral support to the men on strike by patronizing fair garages only."

Dealers today said negotiations were at a standstill but were hopeful of an amicable settlement when the strike parley is resumed next week.

6 Motorists Fined for Violating Traffic Laws

Five motorists paid fines for parking too long and a sixth was fined $10 and costs on his plea of guilty of speeding in municipal court yesterday afternoon and this morning. Melvin J. Hilz, 215 E. Calumet street, was penalized when he pleaded guilty of speeding 40 miles per hour on S. Oneida street.

It Is Said--

That the noise this morning in the vicinity of the courthouse came from the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, where the clerks were frightened by a bat. However, Charles Steidl, captain of the county motorcycle police, ended the chaos by exterminating the pest with a fly swatter.

Phil Promises to Renew Crop Contest With Ohio's Chief

Madison — (U)—Governor Philip LaFollette, who spoke at the Wisconsin state fair yesterday, declared the exposition is a symbol of the ingenuity, resourcefulness, and courage of Wisconsin people.

He promised a "return engagement" with the governor of Iowa next year to see which state has the best agricultural products. The governor recently compared state crops with the Iowa executive. He drew loud cheers from the audience when he complained that on his recent trip to Des Moines "an Iowa girl gave me a piece of Iowa cheese and made me eat it."

Political leaders and members of all parties attended the fair yesterday which was designated as Governor's day.

The governor declined to comment when asked what he thought would be the outcome of the proposed "coalition" of certain groups of the Republican and Democratic parties in Wisconsin.

An unofficially estimated 70,000 visitors, attracted by the presence of the governor, harness racing, livestock judging, the world of stars, and the WPA 11th theater, fled through the turnstiles, bringing the season's total attendance well over 300,000.

Elmo Walls, a cowboy from Bloom, Texas, was rushed to the county emergency hospital with a fractured knee and possible internal injuries after he was crushed against a barricade by a wild steer.

Mack Visits With Governor to Plan Special Session

Shiocton Senator Says Fair Trade Codes May be Included in Call

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Mike Mack, (R), Shiocton, senator from the Outagamie and Shawano county district, said here yesterday that the fair trade practice codes which expired last month because the regular session of the legislature failed to reenact the code law will be considered in the special session of the legislature, which he expects to be called about September 12 or 15.

Senator Mack, at a conference with Governor LaFollette, told the chief executive that he favored enactment of individual codes for individual industries, and only for those industries which have expressed themselves as favoring such codes, as the barbers. Such codes will be presented to the legislature, he predicted.

The Shiocton legislator, regarded as one of the influential men of his party in the legislature, also discussed the problem of relief with the governor, which he said will be given as the purpose of the special session. Mack and the governor agreed that an appropriation to finance relief expenditures for the northern counties this winter is necessary.

Senator Mack's report of his conversation with the governor confirmed the governor's earlier declaration that the subjects to be acted upon in the special session will be few, so that a lengthy, bickering session may be avoided.

Relief will be the first problem to be tackled by the lawmakers, and if that hurdle is made easily and within a reasonable number of days, the governor will send down other subjects for legislation, among them codes and public welfare reorganization, Mack said.

WHEN THE NATION MEANS BUSINESS

The people of this country were considerably surprised a short time ago when the press flashed news of the kidnapping of a Chicago child which seemed at first blush to have been planned and executed according to the standards that were common but a few years ago.

Subsequent events disclosed that the child was not kidnapped for ransom but by its own mother which forces its classification as a rather ordinary and permissible dispute attended by extraordinary circumstances.

But the flash of that news should shock us into a confident realization of how effective the government can become when it is determined to root out some crime completely. When Washington pointed the finger at kidnapping and said "this shall not be" kidnapping ceased thereafter just as soon as the scurrying rodents of the underworld were shown by several demonstrations that the government was in deadly earnest.

Ten men were convicted a short time ago for the Albany abduction of one O'Connell for which they received a $40,000 ransom.

It all sounds like very ancient history or some sort of imaginary story, this kidnapping business which flourished until about 1933. That was the year O'Connell was kidnapped. The trial took place the other day because the first trial, also resulting in conviction, was condemned as unfair on appeal. But the accused have not been happy in the meantime. Bail bonds were found beyond their reach. So with four years in jail and now receiving sentences ranging from 28 to 58 years, which virtually means life for them, all their adventure must be classed with the others of that time, a failure from every standpoint.

The sweeping success of the government in practically wiping out kidnapping in the country fails to bring full satisfaction because it is not extended sufficiently in other directions.

But doing things only half as well as they might be done is a common complaint in every democracy. We are satisfied with half a loaf, sometimes with only a crust.

It must be evident by now, particularly when children are considered, that there are other crimes equally as cruel as kidnapping and some more loathsome.

It is good to know, nevertheless, that when the country does arouse itself and public opinion becomes articulate and makes insistent demands, democracy is capable of acting easily, smoothly, justly, and intelligently, within the confines of our traditions of justice, without blood purges, secret slayings or private tribunals, and securing in this way the satisfaction that attends an honest day's work.

When shall we extend our authority for the further and better protection of the public?

FORGET THE "STUNTS"

One of the press services quotes a ranking woman flyer saying she intends "to set records formidable enough to keep men shooting at them for several years" and that her determination is "to bolster the prestige of women aviators" which she says is "endangered by the loss of Amelia Earhart."

It may be that the aviatrix will set new records. It may be that the records will "bolster" the prestige of women who fly.

One is privileged to entertain doubts. No one quarrels with a woman flyer whose past record indicates that she may be able to accomplish all that she proposes to do.

But one may question whether the kind of accomplishment for which she is famous serves any real purpose.

The real friends of aviation believe the days of barn-storming and circus stunts are over.

Do stunts, nowadays, serve any really important purpose? It can be granted that in the early days of aviation the spectacular accomplishments of fliers, including some women, helped to make the Nation "air minded" and contributed greatly to knowledge of design and performance.

Aviation, however, is out of its swaddling clothes. Experimentation now is conducted by well-financed organizations of researchers. Test-flying is routine. The emphasis is on air safety.

The stunt flier must take desperate chances nowadays if he is to make a successful bid for the publicity on which he thrives. The stunt flight that ends tragically is the one that is most likely to "make" the headlines.

Aviation cannot use too many tragic denouements of greatly-publicized stunt flights.

The important builders of planes and the business men who manage the airlines that make flying a travel common-place are seeking, always, to make flying safer. They produce records of great distances flown without accident that stir only mild interest. They read columns of newspaper that describe, too frequently, the unhappy climaxes of flights whose obvious purpose is to build fame for individuals. And they know that air tragedies are reflected in lessened public confidence in all aviation.

A taste of fame sharpens an appetite. It is not likely that it will be possible to "ground" permanently men and women who have made air history on many a hazardous flight and who have known their brief hours of fame. They would be less than human if they did not continue to try to recapture the thrill of those hours.

But if they could be convinced that their strivings for new fame retard aviation progress whenever they end disastrously the cause of aviation might be advanced.

A SMILE AND CHEER FOR THE KLAN

"Me too" Ashurst made another of his exquisite discourses in the Senate when that body was considering the confirmation of Mr. Black for the Supreme Court. Until the President's follower spoke we suspected that Mr. Roosevelt might be unaware of the fact that Black was a Kluxer.

The noble and dutiful Ashurst not only conceded the fact by the form of his argument but supported the proposition that the Klan is entitled to representation on the Supreme Court.

The Arizona solon pointed to Justice Butler of the Supreme Court and mentioned the fact that he is a Catholic; and pointed to Justice Cordozo and mentioned the fact that he is a Jew; and pointed to Senator Black and declared that those who denounce him as a Kluxer are the same ones who would denounce Justices Butler and Cordozo for their respective religions.

In so far as the subservient Ashurst reflects White House opinion, the administration has recognized the hooded Klan as a great American institution.

Senator Ashurst's declaration becomes all the more clear in meaning when the offer of Senator Burke on the floor is considered. The Nebraska offered to bring before the Senate judiciary committee two witnesses then in Washington to testify they were present at the initiation of Mr. Black into the masked order of racial and religious bigots.

Mr. Ashurst prevented the appearance of the witnesses with the plea, "What of it?"

Now that we have a Kluxer on the high court should not the President also appoint a Nazi and a Red? Or at least the Red?

In a way it is to be regretted that the President failed to obtain his heart's desire to appoint six justices at once. He certainly would have made the Supreme Court into a curiosity.

WHAT PEOPLE LEARN OF WAR

America is needlessly gasping at the horror of the Sino-Jap war. Those who read the clear descriptions of what has happened in Shanghai have difficulty in believing that bodies are strewn around streets like Lake flies or piled up on corners like pulpwood.

But there is nothing happening at Shanghai that is very new except in the respect that it is clearer to be seen.

Most battles are fought out of sight of the public. Trenches run from town to town but the direction they take is ordinarily determined by the lay of the land.

The world receives accounts of the battles all along the trench system. But since the correspondents can seldom be in the thick of the fray the articles lack the color and driving force generally to be found when eye witnesses are held spell-bound by the savagery they observe.

The fight for Shanghai is fairly to be compared to that desperate and sinister struggle for the Alcazar at Toledo. There, it will be remembered, men disinclined to ask or give quarter. Women and children fought and died without complaint. Gasoline and other combustibles were employed with all the nonchalance with which a man puts gray over his potato when he has plenty of time for his dinner.

For war transforms mankind. It makes of him a beast. It wrings out of his nature every attribute of heaven and pumps him full of all the wickedness ascribed to the inferno.

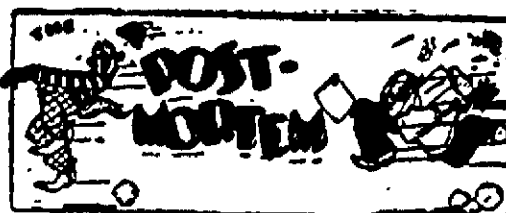

Take a good look at Shanghai. Read again of Toledo. These were daily matters of occurrence for over four years during the World War.

And what did people learn? Not much.

The incised practiced skull surgery in prehistoric times. When an injury resulted in pressure on the brain, they saved out a piece of the skull, and often these operations were successful.

Guiliana Bossi, a Roman, is said to have designed the first successful double-barreled shotgun in 1616. The barrels on his gun were placed over the other, instead of side by side.

One hundred fifty years ago the only known method of generating electricity was to rub cloth, wax, or resin with the dry hand or a dry cloth.

NEWS The owner of a professional football team out east made himself a barrel of dough this season on the ponies is interesting although not without precedent in American history. . . . interesting detail is the fact that he salted $100,000 away in annuities. . . . of course, it raises hob with the old wheeze about "easy come—easy go," but then, his winnings raised hob with the bookies. . . . the income taxes will probably take care of what didn't go into the annuities. . . .

SHORT STORY

Jonah:

My dog is my best pal. Since I have had him there is never anything left over for hash.

— Pickaway

No hash? Ah, but what more delectable dish is there than roast beef hash, crispy brown on top, and with perhaps a touch of chili sauce?

It makes me hungry, and I just finished lunch.

JUST A FEW WEEKS, AND THEN

Jonah:

Won't be long now and the pigskin will be flying off the feet into the higher ozone. Wonder what Coach Stuhldreher has up the sleeve and in the bag for this fall? Looks like a lot of beef in the line and a bunch of light horse Harrys in the backfield.

Slot machines and pin-ball games are out, hooray, now we can save money. We hope.

— The Shadow

Your correspondent has it on fairly good authority that Harry Stuhldreher's popularity won't have to depend as much on his personality this year as last. I will not devote too much discussion to this point because I am trying to raise some money to cover some of the Marquette bets that are floating in these parts. The Marquette bettors are likely to start yelling for odds in spite of the record if I appear too cheerful over the prospects at Madison.

And no odds will be forthcoming. Except such odds as I can get for myself.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

ONE WAY STREET

Life is a one way street.
There is a light ahead.
Upon the beat there walks at night
A tall policeman . . . "Fate"
We may call him!
You turn! Your case you state.
Your chance is slim!
Rebelligiously you ride,
But ride you must.
For others walk beside
With love and trust.
You must go right or stay
And know defeat.
There is just one true way
On Life's Main Street!

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

VITAMIN D AND RESPIRATORY INFECTION

Formerly we thought vitamin A was the "anti-infective" vitamin or at any rate most essential for the prevention of so-called "colds," influenza or grip, sinusitis and other respiratory infections. This assumption is now questioned and, from all I can learn about the practical use of vitamins (not animal experiments but human experience) there is no good evidence to support the idea. The evidence seems to show rather that vitamin D, not vitamin A, aids in building immunity against respiratory infection. This conclusion is based not only on human experience but also on animal experimentation.

In one experiment (out of many on record, references to which I am glad to give physicians on request) a group of rats well fed except for lack of vitamin D were given injections of rat typhoid germs and 63 per cent of the rats succumbed. A control group of rats fed a small or diet but adequate vitamin D, were given the same rat typhoid injections, and only 27 per cent of these succumbed.

A great many persons who have adopted the habit of supplementing their ordinary diet with irradiated yeast tablets, which are rich in vitamin D (produced in the yeast by irradiating with certain wavelengths of ultraviolet light) have noticed and reported an increased immunity and a decreased frequency of "colds" (to thee, cri to me).

Vitamin D is apparently a defense against pneumonia in children afflicted with whooping cough. Among 2,462 cases of whooping cough, more than half of the children with marked rickets contracted pneumonia. 37 per cent of the children with mild rickets contracted pneumonia, and only 29 per cent of the children without rickets contracted pneumonia.

In children with measles there is a tendency to develop pneumonia if there is a deficiency of vitamin D.

When you say "colds" you don't know and nobody knows what you are talking about. Just one or another illness, usually communicable via conversational spray more commonly than via open-face sneeze or cough spray. Only fault I find with calling the illness or indisposition "cold" is that the term implies an intention or desire to disarm the ignorant or innocent folk around you and a callous indifference concerning the fate of those you infect. I urged you to have a swark of decency and call it "cri." I have "cri" (pronounced kree) means I don't know yet whether it is simple coryza, diphtheria, measles, infantile paralysis, but I'm giving fair warning—warn yourself accordingly. There is a golden rule of hygiene, too.

Of a group of children with diphtheria 13 per cent had no rickets, 62 per cent had some signs of rickets. The former class had a death rate of 33 per cent, the latter a death rate of 63 per cent.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Drought Needed

Both of our children, aged 5 and 7, wet the bed. The older boy only began to do so after he had measles last fall, but the younger boy has always done so. (L. T.)

Answer—Send a stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for instructions for correcting the habit of bed-wetting.

Hemorrhoids

Please send me any literature you have on hygiene for hemorrhoids. (Mr. A. R.)

Answer—Send a three-cent stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for monograph on hemorrhoids.

Wet Dressing

Just what is a "wet dressing" and what is its purpose? (H. M.)

Answer—Say a mass of loose gauze (cheesecloth) kept constantly moistened, on an infected or painful or inflamed or throbbing wound. Moistened with salt water, strength of table-spoonful of common salt in the pint of boiled water, in which teaspoonful of boric acid is also dissolved. Applied as hot as endurable. Purpose is to favor drainage and relieve tension and soreness.

Your Birthday

"VIRGO"

If August 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m., until noon, from 2 to 4 p. m., and from 9 to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a. m., from 4 to 6 p. m., and from 11 p. m. until midnight.

Fight shy of expressing an opinion regarding the shortcomings of anyone this day, for it may involve you in a peck of trouble. Tactless disregard of the feelings of other people will be the cause of much of the day's unhappiness. A sense of self-righteousness must be guarded against, for those who suffer from it are apt to be brought face to face with some very unpleasant truths. There will be a prevailing tendency to be extravagant, this day, particularly among people who have charge accounts. The wise will remember that there is always a day of reckoning, when payments must be made, and will govern their expenditures accordingly to their income, avoid, if possible, any legal entanglements this day. Bear in mind that frequently a poor compromise is better than the most promising law suit conceivable. Married and engaged couples, as well as the victims of Cupid's wiles must forego any semblance of being dictatorial, if they wish to avoid bringing upon themselves a whirlwind of resentment.

If a woman, and August 27 is your birthday, nature probably has endowed you with an analytical mind. Be careful this does not make you "picky" about trivial things. You ought to have a vast amount of forethought particularly in money matters. You must have plenty of self-assurance to succeed, and this can be secured through the right process of reasoning. The most important thing for you to guard against is placing yourself under obligations to someone who might take an unfair advantage of you. You ought to have many social graces, and with little trouble become very popular. Money may solve your problems in a highly satisfactory way, and it is liable to come to you in an unexpected manner. Work of an educational, scientific, managerial, literary, artistic or commercial nature might give you the opportunity to prove your efficiency. Marriage seems to be the medium through which happiness will come to you.

The child born on August 27, as a rule, upon reaching maturity, is successful in its undertakings, exceptionally healthy, and frequently becomes extremely wealthy.

If a man and August 27 is your natal day, if you are master of yourself, you probably will control the destinies or influence the lives of many people. As a clergyman, manufacturer, inventor, engineer, social worker, politician, sales manager, banker or merchant your future ought to be bright.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York—Jerry Wald, the old Graphic columnist who ran into Jack Warner and became a successful studio writer, came back from the coast and fell into this situation his first day in town.

Dining in an eatery that was crowded to door, he suddenly realized that the extra chair at his table was the only unoccupied seat in the house.

"Pardon me," said a young man who had just entered, "but I'll have to sit here with you. Do you mind?"

Whereupon the young man deposited himself and ordered a substantial dinner.

At last, after desert had been stowed away, he summoned his waitress. "Don't give me a check," he instructed her, "just send the bill home. I'll mail you a check at the end of the month."

Startled, the waitress sought out the manager, and that vastly intrigued individual sauntered over to the stranger's table.

"Is everything all right?" he inquired.

"I enjoyed my dinner immensely," declared the young man pleasantly.

"You found no fault with the service?"

"As a matter of point, I was about to comment on how excellent the service is here." Then suppose you let us have this amount for your dinner," suggested the manager smoothly.

"Unfortunately," replied the guest, "I never carry small change with me. I find it more expedient to settle accounts by check."

"I shall," said the host, "be forced to summon an officer if you persist in this attitude."

"Listen," the guest went on. "See that sign over on the bar. It says: 'To avoid error, please pay when served.' That sign annoys me, yet when I sit at the bar I comply with it. Now I am at a table, and you should comply with me."

"But I am a customer," snapped the young man, "and if there were no customers, where would the restaurant get off?" The manager bit his lip. He said at last, "Very well. Mail us your check."

"Thank you," cried the guest. "I shall send you the full amount."

"That will be wonderful," answered the manager. "For a mo-

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—His Excellency, Governor Bibb Graves of Alabama, must have had a dark hour when the first rumor-monger suggested to him that he could appoint his wife to the senate post left vacant when Hugo L. Black was elevated to the Supreme Court.

The Graveses have been such pals. The governor must have thought of Mrs. Graves packing her bags and setting off for her lonesome vigil in the United States senate, where, as a good Democrat, she would have to stand up under the stinging speeches of such active Republicans as Sen. Arthur Vandenburg of Michigan.

Last Christmas the two of them went on a hunt with several friends. And who brought down the first buck against the whole field? None but Mrs. Dixie Bibb Graves. Stories from the South describe her as "at home with deep-sea fishing tackle, shotgun, garden spade, or silver ladle at a banquet table." That's a formidable set of accomplishments with which to enter the senate. Of course, it's a little confusing at first to know when to use fishing tackle, shotguns, garden spades or silver ladles in the senate. But the new senators seem to catch on right quickly.

$2-A-Year Men

Things you might like to know: Salary of legislators in the U. S. Island of Guam is $2 a year, which they lose if they are absent three sessions. . . . Representative Wearin of Iowa received a gift of a red tie as indicative of his liberal views and his wife wore red ties thereafter every day—until it wasn't funny any more. . . . Cockroaches are a pest in the handsome national capitol building at times galloping across senators' desks and generally playing hob with documents filed in the basement. . . . There is a campaign in Washington, against raising the gasoline tax here above 2 cents. What's the level in your state?

Congress Neglected

Washington customers of a local store stand in droves to see a photographic reproduction of the constitution in a case similar to the one in which the original is kept. Yet up the street a short distance is the original in the Congressional library. It is open to the inspection of all close up. You could count on your fingers the number who see it in an hour. But that's nothing. We know several natives of this political city who never have seen congress in session.

Culbertson Explains How to Play Hard Hand

BY ELY CULBERTSON
"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I am sending you a difficult hand to play. It came up at one of our duplicates and I think it would qualify for the World Bridge Olympic."

NORTH
♠ J 10 9 5
♥ 10 9 8 7 2

♣ A J 10 9 5 3 2

SOUTH
♠ A K Q 7 6
♥ None
♦ Q 9 7 6
♣ Q 7 6 4

The bidding (both sides vulnerable):
East South West North
1 club 1 spade 2 hearts 2 spades
3 hearts 3 spades 4 hearts 4 spades
Pass Pass Double Redouble
Pass Pass Pass

"West opened with the club king. It played at a straight cross-ruff, the contract it defeating. It actually was played as follows: North ruffed the opening lead and led a heart, which South ruffed. A second heart was ruffed, and a second heart. When the third club was led toward dummy, West discarded a low diamond. Dummy ruffed and returned a third heart for South to ruff. The cross-ruff was then abandoned by declarer's leading the ace and king of trumps, dropping all the outstanding trumps. Then South led a low diamond and West, who was down to the king-jack of hearts and the A-J-10 of diamonds, was helpless. He put up the best defense of forcing dummy's diamond king with the ten, but then dummy returned a heart and, after cashing the king and jack of hearts, West could make only the diamond ace. As I saw it, the point was to sever connections between the East and West hands by ruffing West, for his double, was marked with strength in diamonds and therefore the throw-in play should work. Please advise if this hand contains a real point or is just a 'pseudo'."

"Yours very truly,
"W. S. Flushing, N. Y."

The declarer is to be commended for having fulfilled his contract. I must point out, however, that while his line of play was ingenious it was unnecessarily complicated. Readers will note that the success of the plan used depended on West's holding the diamond ace. With that condition in effect, the following line of play would have been equally effective and much more direct:

Ruff the opening lead in dummy and ruff a heart in the closed hand. Then lead a low diamond toward the king. If West puts up the ace and leads a trump, he will be true cut down dummy's ruffing power by one trick, but this will be unimportant because declarer will be assured of at least two diamond tricks. If West does not go up, one diamond trick is safely cashed and then a complete cross-ruff produces nine trump tricks. Even if West makes the virtual double dummy play of going up with the diamond ace and returning a diamond for declarer to ruff, and then East returns a spade, declarer will still make two diamond tricks, five trumps in his own hand and three ruffs in dummy. The real crux of the hand is making sure of one or two diamond tricks, depending on the subsequent defense.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Question: I held the following hand and opened with one no trump:
♠ A Q S ♠ A Q 6 ♦ K J 8 ♠ A Q 9 8
Partner passed, holding:
♠ K 10 4 3 ♥ J 12 ♦ 6 2 ♠ J 6 3 2
I made four no trump. What was wrong with the bidding?
Answer: Your hand was too strong for one no trump and slightly too weak for two no trump. You should have opened with one club, which would have been kept open.

TOMORROW'S HAND
South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
♠ K 10 6

Uncle Ray's Corner

Adventures of a Missionary

IV—Ships In The Distance
After his failure to keep hold of the goat, the missionary went back to his cabin on the lonely island. He had wanted the goat as a companion, as something which might take the place of a friend.

My next task was to go for oysters or fish for breakfast. Then I went to the forest for a supply of firewood, and gathered fresh ferns for my bed.

"For my midday meal, I had fish and wild palm, or sometimes wild cabbage. This I found growing at the foot of the rocks.

"The afternoon I generally spent in a walk in the forest, but I dared not go too far into it for fear of losing my way back. As soon as it was dark, I went to my hut, and made hooks, or lines, or other things. I kept a good supply of fuel inside the hut."

After seven weeks on the island, Henry spied a sail in the distance. As quickly as he could, he lighted a bonfire, hoping to give a signal in that way. The effort failed, for the vessel faded out of sight.

Would ever such a thing happen again? He did not know, but he hoped with all his heart that someone would come to the rescue. Three or four times each day, he went to a high point and looked over the ocean, but could see nothing but the waves.

On a warm sunny day, three months later, the man thought he saw a small speck far out at sea. In a little while it grew larger, and he could make out sails. This time he not only built a large bonfire, but also put green branches on it, hoping the smoke would make a better signal than he had made before. The sails belonged to a schooner, and it came within four miles of the island, but then went on with its journey. So far as he could tell, no one aboard had seen the smoke of his fire.

He found some honey in the hollow of an old tree.

Sad because of this loss, Henry felt he was worse off than Robinson Crusoe had been. In the story book, Defoe had told about Crusoe's pets, including a dog and a parrot.

Neither on that day, nor on any other, did Henry obtain a goat, though he saw them now and then, climbing about the hills. He did, however, find some honey made by wild bees. He was able to obtain so much of this that he made several crude clay jars, and used them for storing it. The honey tasted very good.

A dead shark was washed upon the beach. From certain of its bones, he made fish hooks, and afterward went fishing fairly often. The record of the missionary's everyday life on the island, as he wrote it down himself, is given in these paragraphs:

"I generally awoke early, went to the spring, and had a fresh bath."

Synthetic Suntan Is Becoming

BY ELSIE PIERCE
THE sun-worshipping world seems to be divided into two parts these days—those who want to get rid of their tan in the quickest (which is literally the worst way) and those who find it so becoming they would like to have it linger long—but after vacations do not expect to be out in the sun so much.

There were some, this summer, who refused to tan at all. They guarded gardenia petals pallor for its romantic, feminine quality. Then, again, there were some who permitted the skin to take on a deep gypsy or life-guard tan. But both extremes were in the minority. From what we've seen, we'd say that the majority of women fell in line with Fashion's preference of a mellow tan. Such a tan is at once feminine enough, romantic enough to go even with the new fall fashions, yet it carries its associations of summer and sports and healthy outdoor life. Best of all, such a tan can be had by bottle.

Quick Change Easy
If your vacation is over, and your suntan is fading fast, and you feel that the mellow tan is very becoming you can prolong it by the bottle, tube or jar variety. One thing to be said in favor of the synthetic suntan: you don't have to be a professional magician to do a quick change act. You can go as feminine and fickle as you wish, stay suntanned by day, change to calla lily whiteness by night, change your coat day by day as the whim moves you.

More... the synthetic suntan has it all over the coat naturally acquired in that there is no pain, no peeling, no chapping, or coarsening effect. Oh yes, we know all about Vitamin D in the sun's rays, we know how beneficial and healthful exposure in short, sunny studies does can be. We won't, for the moment, suggest that the bottled variety can impart the health-promoting quality of the natural, but for sheer looks the synthetic suntan certainly scores with us.

Remember Make-up Harmony
Let your natural tan fade. My advice is that you even encourage the fading by bleaching—a mild bleach, please. But use your artificial tan for a time. Then, should you feel that your natural, lighter skin tone is a better backdrop for the fall fashions you merely shelve the suntan shade. The one thing to remember, though, is your make-up harmony. I cannot stress that too strongly because it is the first rule of modern make-up. With a suntanned skin a deeper, darker powder, with a beige cast; a creamy, orange tinted rouge and lipstick are necessary. As the skin becomes lighter powder takes on more pink, yellow and ivory tones; rouge and lipstick may be a clearer rose or blue.

Forget Family Quarrels in Evening of Music; Games

BY ANGELO PATRI
There are bound to be quarrels in a family of any size. When children have nothing else to do in the evening they fill the time with a hearty fight. That does no good to the family spirit. The time might better be used in having a little family fun.

A family orchestra is one of the finest arrangements for family harmony and general good times that can be found. Singing to the accompaniment of a well-played instrument will soothe the angry beat in the most turbulent breast. And playing together dissolves all difficulties.

Of course the violinist can berate the cellist for a sour note, and everybody can blame the pianist for whatever hurts him most, but the extra grievance is played out in a final burst of harmony and good will. By all means have a family orchestra if there is even one among you who can play a tune. Pianos are so cheap these days that everybody can have one. And an orchestra can be built around it without half trying.

Playing games is the next best way to maintain peace and promote the general welfare. They may not promote the general peace, but they certainly will prevent the boredom that breeds on battle. There are as many kinds of games as there are people to play them. The old ones are just as good as ever, better even, when compared with some of the new ones like Hunting the Slipper in the Dark. Keep the lights on and play the games with the whole family in on them.

Parents' Magazine published a little book that I thought just the thing for a family who needed to get together, as what family does not? In this book, "Family Fun," you will find about every game that ever was played. Parlor games, group games, games for two, indoor and outdoor, for any and every occasion. That book ought to be handy. Opening it will bring a suggestion for a good time.

Children need to play games together. When the Old Man in one rises and he makes a new law to cover his particular case and so allows himself to win, instead of a pitched battle with loud cries for "Mother, the rules are applied. Mother, the book says goes. The important rule keeps a firm hand over the proceedings and discipline is maintained. There is no finer discipline than that gained by adher-

Forget Family Quarrels in Evening of Music; Games

BY ANGELO PATRI
There are bound to be quarrels in a family of any size. When children have nothing else to do in the evening they fill the time with a hearty fight. That does no good to the family spirit. The time might better be used in having a little family fun.

A family orchestra is one of the finest arrangements for family harmony and general good times that can be found. Singing to the accompaniment of a well-played instrument will soothe the angry beat in the most turbulent breast. And playing together dissolves all difficulties.

Of course the violinist can berate the cellist for a sour note, and everybody can blame the pianist for whatever hurts him most, but the extra grievance is played out in a final burst of harmony and good will. By all means have a family orchestra if there is even one among you who can play a tune. Pianos are so cheap these days that everybody can have one. And an orchestra can be built around it without half trying.

Playing games is the next best way to maintain peace and promote the general welfare. They may not promote the general peace, but they certainly will prevent the boredom that breeds on battle. There are as many kinds of games as there are people to play them. The old ones are just as good as ever, better even, when compared with some of the new ones like Hunting the Slipper in the Dark. Keep the lights on and play the games with the whole family in on them.

Parents' Magazine published a little book that I thought just the thing for a family who needed to get together, as what family does not? In this book, "Family Fun," you will find about every game that ever was played. Parlor games, group games, games for two, indoor and outdoor, for any and every occasion. That book ought to be handy. Opening it will bring a suggestion for a good time.

Children need to play games together. When the Old Man in one rises and he makes a new law to cover his particular case and so allows himself to win, instead of a pitched battle with loud cries for "Mother, the rules are applied. Synthetic Suntan Is Becoming

THE sun-worshipping world seems to be divided into two parts these days—those who want to get rid of their tan in the quickest (which is literally the worst way) and those who find it so becoming they would like to have it linger long—but after vacations do not expect to be out in the sun so much.

There were some, this summer, who refused to tan at all. They guarded gardenia petals pallor for its romantic, feminine quality. Then, again, there were some who permitted the skin to take on a deep gypsy or life-guard tan. But both extremes were in the minority. From what we've seen, we'd say that the majority of women fell in line with Fashion's preference of a mellow tan. Such a tan is at once feminine enough, romantic enough to go even with the new fall fashions, yet it carries its associations of summer and sports and healthy outdoor life. Best of all, such a tan can be had by bottle.

Quick Change Easy
If your vacation is over, and your suntan is fading fast, and you feel that the mellow tan is very becoming you can prolong it by the bottle, tube or jar variety. One thing to be said in favor of the synthetic suntan: you don't have to be a professional magician to do a quick change act. You can go as feminine and fickle as you wish, stay suntanned by day, change to calla lily whiteness by night, change your coat day by day as the whim moves you.

More... the synthetic suntan has it all over the coat naturally acquired in that there is no pain, no peeling, no chapping, or coarsening effect. Oh yes, we know all about Vitamin D in the sun's rays, we know how beneficial and healthful exposure in short, sunny studies does can be. We won't, for the moment, suggest that the bottled variety can impart the health-promoting quality of the natural, but for sheer looks the synthetic suntan certainly scores with us.

Remember Make-up Harmony
Let your natural tan fade. My advice is that you even encourage the fading by bleaching—a mild bleach, please. But use your artificial tan for a time. Then, should you feel that your natural, lighter skin tone is a better backdrop for the fall fashions you merely shelve the suntan shade. The one thing to remember, though, is your make-up harmony. I cannot stress that too strongly because it is the first rule of modern make-up. With a suntanned skin a deeper, darker powder, with a beige cast; a creamy, orange tinted rouge and lipstick are necessary. As the skin becomes lighter powder takes on more pink, yellow and ivory tones; rouge and lipstick may be a clearer rose or blue.

Sons of Legion Corps Receives Trophy at Dinner

Past State Legion Commander Lauds Champion Unit at Civic Banquet

Kaukauna—Boys of the Kaukauna Sons of the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps basked in the glory of their state championship last night as they received a tall gold trophy from the Wisconsin department of the American Legion before a crowd of 120 townspeople, who gathered at the Knights of Columbus club rooms to honor them at a victory banquet.

Robert Monk, Wausau attorney and former state commander of the legion made the presentation of the trophy to Harry Treptow, Sr., drillmaster of the corps, and the man who conceived the idea of organizing the group, the first of its kind in the state, a little more than 3½ years ago.

Attired in their dress uniforms, white duck trousers, blue sweaters and white Sam Brown belts, the 35 boys attending the celebration made an impressive picture at the center of the three long tables of guests in the club rooms.

Outlines Purpose

Adding his congratulations to those of representatives of civic organizations who attended the affair, Monk gave the main talk of the evening, outlining the purpose of the Sons of the American Legion organization, and presented the trophy, along with a photostatic copy of the $200 check received by the legion sons for their victory.

Harry Treptow, Sr., spoke for the corps, gave a short sketch of its history since its beginning in March, 1934, and voiced his thanks to the boys and to the Kaukauna people who have supported their work.

Joseph C. McCarthy, as toast master, introduced the speakers. The Flanagan sisters, the Misses Margaret Ann, Joan and Mary Alice furnished the music with their string trio of harp, violin and cello. Margaret Ann is the first drum major of the drum and bugle corps.

having led the group in three state legion conventions.

Presents Flag

Arthur Kromer, commander of Kaukauna Post No. 41, presented the SOTAL with a flag, donated to them by Miss Belle Fox, Lawe street. The flag is the burial flag used at the funeral rites of the late John Lawe, Kaukauna Civil war veteran.

Earl Treptow, state champion bugler, received his badge of award, sent by legion's state committee on prizes and awards of the Milwaukee convention, from the hands of the speaker last night. Ralph Schubring, received his badge for winning second prize as a drummer. Floyd Hooymann, commander of the Kaukauna SOTAL, was given the certificate of award, naming Kaukauna state champions.

Outlining the reasons for the existence of the Sons of the American Legion, Monk in his talk said, "The purpose of this group is to perpetuate the ideals for which the American Legion stands."

"We speak of love for country," he said, "but that means more than singing the 'Star Spangled Banner' or saluting the flag. It means working for our country."

Must Turn to Youth

"Our country is all right now, we say, but what about tomorrow? Who is going to carry the torch of liberty after we pass on? The legion knows that we must turn to our children."

"The organization is training in American citizenship," Monk said. "The boys take pledges to observe ten ideals." The ideals summarized refer to patriotism, health, knowledge, training, honor, faith, helpfulness, courtesy, comradeship and reverence.

"We have no conflict with other types of boys' work," he said. "Legion posts, for example, have helped promote and sponsor hundreds of boy scout troops in the country. Our organization is a clinic in good citizenship, and the heart of the boys is reached with entertainment and competition for awards as he is trained for citizenship."

Relates History

Harry Treptow, Jr., told of the history of the drum and bugle corps in Kaukauna in his short talk. Kaukauna Post No. 41 of the Legion financed the purchasing of equipment in 1934, when the group was organized.

"I saw a drum and bugle corps from a Fond du Lac school perform in that city," Treptow explained, "and it got me to wondering if we couldn't have something like it in Kaukauna." That started the idea of building up the present state champions.

Other messages of welcome and congratulation were given by Mayor Lewis F. Nelson and Arthur Kromer, commander of Post No. 41. The celebration was prepared by a civic committee consisting of Dale Andrews, chairman, John Van

Part of Road Crew Begins Colby Job

Finishing Work Under Way on Superhighway Between Appleton, Kaukauna

Kaukauna—Part of the crew of men used in the construction of the new Highway 41 here left the city early this week to begin work yesterday on a paving job being done at Colby by the Weymouth Construction company, now finishing work on the new pavement here.

Shouldering on the new 10-mile stretch is expected to be finished tomorrow, as trucks are hauling fill that is being taken from a high bank along the west side of Maloney road, near the highway. A crew seeding grass on the shoulders is working its way from Appleton, where the new paving starts, toward Kaukauna now.

Work yet to be done on the highway includes the gravel surfacing of driveways leading on to it and the building of guard rails at various places of possible danger, if unprotected, along the road.

The receiving station for materials near the Chicago and Northern Western tracks at Draper street has been dismantled and paving machinery shipped away. The side track to the receiving station is being taken up at the present.

Several Homes are Without City Water After Main Breaks

Kaukauna—Spending their second day without city water, residents of the settlement in the northwest section of the city today awaited completion of repairs on the Maloney road water main which broke late Tuesday.

The main broke in one place Tuesday night and was repaired yesterday, but a triple break at another point occurred yesterday afternoon, when water was turned back into it. City workmen hope to have the main repaired by tonight.

Cause of the break was believed to be the loosening of the earth around it by the digging of the Maloney road sewer, WPA project being done this summer. The sewer runs 10 feet deeper than the water main and passes under it at two points. It is at these points that the trouble occurred.

A trench 55 feet long is being dug by workmen today to take up the pipe line and make the repairs before water service can be restored to the settlement.

2 Kaukauna Teachers Submit Resignations

Kaukauna—Miss Lillie Hembre and Miss Esther Kraalman, Kaukauna school teachers, resigned their positions yesterday, according to communications received from them by E. F. Rennie, secretary of the school board and of the teachers' committee of that group.

Miss Hembre, instructor in home economics, will take a similar position at the city high school in Port Washington, near Milwaukee. Miss Kraalman, who has been teaching deaf boys and girls in classes at Park school, will do a similar type of work at LaCrosse.

New teachers must be hired to fill the vacancies within the next two weeks, as school opens Sept. 7.

Two Cars are Slightly Damaged in Collision

3 Michigan Trucking Firms Settle Strikes With Wage Agreements

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Three wage agreements reached between operators and union workers during the past 12 hours caused both sides to express hope Wednesday that Michigan's motor truck strike difficulties were approaching an end. Neither side would make definite predictions, but they based their optimism on the following developments:

Trucks of the Vyn company which handles freight at Muskegon, Grand Haven, Grand Rapids and Holland for the Eastern Michigan trucking company resumed operation Wednesday for the first time since Sunday. John Vyn, president and general manager of the firm, granted union demands for 55 cents an hour for dockmen, 60 cents for city drivers and 65 cents for highway drivers, effective Sept. 7.

The Michigan Inter-State Motor Freight company granted the same scale to union locals at Saginaw and Lansing.

The Consolidated Freight company, which employs 250 workers, resumed operations today after having completed an agreement to pay 50 cents an hour to dockmen, 55 to freight checkers and city drivers and 60 cents for highway drivers. This agreement also is effective Sept. 7.

The Haas Hardware company store Saturday. The sale will start at 11:30 in the morning.

Build Rail Crossing Over Superhighway 41

Kaukauna—Building of the railroad crossing over the connection to Superhighway 41 on Maloney road will probably be finished this week, one of the double tracks already having been fixed with timber. The crossing has been passable since the road construction by means of gravel filling.

SENT TO LIBRARY GROUNDS

Kaukauna—Children playing in the dry river bed near the high school were sent to the library playground yesterday by Kaukauna police to continue their recreational activities.

Of small fruits, strawberries are richest in sugar content.

Items of Interest to Residents of Leeman

Leeman—Miss Eugenia Knapp, who is employed in Green Bay, spent last week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Knapp, after having submitted to a minor throat operation in that city. Miss Knapp left Saturday accompanied by her guest, Miss Marion Ziltner, for a week's visit with relatives and friends in Milwaukee and Glen Ellyn, Ill.

Mrs. Joel Poole returned home Saturday from a week's visit with friends in Chicago. She was accompanied there by Mrs. L. A. Edwards and Bobbie Rhoades of Chicago, who were guests at the Poole home. Mr. and Mrs. Myron Fields drove to Madison Sunday to visit a relative who is ill in a hospital.

WHY IRON FIREMAN COAL HEATING OFFERS THE GREATEST VALUE IN AMERICA

The Coal Flow model shown above feeds direct from bin to fire. Regular hopper models also available if desired.

Abundant Heat...Cleanliness...Convenience

Low Cost...

Matching the best of other automatic heating at every point, Iron Fireman is the outstanding leader in two important ways.

FIRST—coal heating is more uniform. Coal gives off its heat in a steady, continuous flow. You get away from the "pop-on, pop-off" features of the more volatile automatic fuels.

SECOND—Iron Fireman fuel cost is far lower. Coal is America's permanent fuel supply. It is sold comparatively. There are several kinds of good coal in every locality which make satisfactory Iron Fireman fuel. They represent far more heat units per dollar than you can buy in any other fuel. So you save money on fuel—a lot of money—costs are 15 to 50 per cent lower!

There is an Iron Fireman adapted to your present heating plant. It is not necessary to buy a new furnace or boiler unless you need one anyway.

Ask the authorized Iron Fireman dealer nearest you to inspect your present plant and make you a proposition.

KAUKAUNA — The Kaukauna Brewers moved back into undisputed possession of first place in the Northern State league last night when two homers gave them a 2 to 1 victory over Two Rivers. In the meantime Green Bay was dropping a 7 to 2 decision to Manitowoc and the Brewers are all thanks because they didn't feel the Shipbuilders were quite that friendly to them. Previous to last night the Kaws, Bays and Two Rivers all were tied for first honors.

There isn't much to say about the Kaukauna-Two Rivers game. It was a well-played contest and was staged in about an hour and 40 minutes which is fast enough for any game but the crowd was highly disappointing in view of the fact it was the final home game.

Kaukauna was outbait by an 8 to 7 margin but the Kaws' hits were for extra bases and that's what they pay off on. The Brewers scored their first run in the second frame when Baldy Eggert, first to the rubber, hit the ball out of the lot via the left field fence. The second marker came in the fifth when Eddie Zelinski parked one over the wall.

Two Rivers scored in the fourth. Stan Smogoleski singled into the left to start things and moved along on Muldowney's sacrifice. Meyer fanned but Kennerly riddled a double into right and Smogoleski crossed the rubber.

The losers threatened on several occasions but the Kaws always rose to the heights and ended the uprisings. In the first the Icebergs got two singles but a double play, ended to Vondrashek to Eggert, powered the inning. In the fifth Braut got to third and died there when the next two men flied and in the sixth Meyer got to third but was trapped off the sack and run down with Peck and Carvenough and Zelinski doing the heavy work. And in the seventh Pupeter got a double with one away but nothing came of it.

Kaukauna threatened a couple times, too. In the third Vondrashek doubled but was out at third trying to advance on a fly to center. Vils doubled in the sixth and died there while in the seventh Zelinski opened the inning with a single and never got past first base.

Kennerly, youthful shortstop, was the batting star for the Rivers with three for four, one a double. Zelinski got two hits in three tries to pace Kaukauna while Vils had two for four, one a double.

Toledo Mud Hens Overcome 6-4 Lead To Defeat Brewers

Three Teams Battle for American Association Pennant

CHICAGO (AP)—Judging from the way they are battling down the stretch, neither the Columbus Red Birds, Minneapolis Millers or the Toledo Mud Hens have the slightest notion of settling $4,000 share of the American Association's $12,000 prize pool.

The second place club will whack up $2,000 of the purse, and the next two will get into the playoff, with a chance of meeting the powerful Newark Bears of the International league in the "Little World series."

But, the secondary awards apparently are not very attractive to the Birds, Millers and Hens who were still covered by a half game in today's standings.

Columbus retained its half-game lead over Minneapolis and Toledo last night by whipping the Kansas City Blues, 4 to 1. The Millers and Mud Hens remained deadlocked in second place by dealing out beatings to Indianapolis and Milwaukee, respectively.

Minneapolis landed on Pat McLaughlin and Lloyd Johnson for 14 hits, including a home run and two singles by Red Kress, to whip Indianapolis, 10 to 1.

Toledo staged another late rally to defeat Milwaukee, 10 to 6, and keep pace with the Millers. The Brewers had a 6 to 4 lead, obtained at the expense of Joe Sullivan, but the Hens thumped Bill Zuber for four runs in the seventh, and picked up on Ralph Winegarner for another pair in the eighth.

St. Paul and Louisville split a night doubleheader, the Saints winning the opener, 4 to 1, behind Art Herring's 5-hit pitching, and the Colonels taking the second game, 4 to 2, in seven innings.

Neenah Lad Wins First Match in Golf Tourney

Milwaukee (AP)—Bob Owen of Madison, and Jack Lemberg, of Neenah, advanced to the second round of play in the Tri-State junior golf tournament yesterday at North Hills country club.

Owen ousted Doug Fowle, Blue Mound, Milwaukee, 4 and 3, and Lemberg won from Don MacCrosen, North Hills, Milwaukee, 3 and 2.

Bill Robinson's Jokes

Keep Joe in Good Humor

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
New York (AP)—Did the Giants take some of the starch out of the Cubes' souls? Wow!

Joe Jacobs, local little manager of Max Schmeling, isn't exactly in what the boys call "the chips," but he bought 25 rousing seats for Farr and Louis to pass around among guys who have done him favors in the last year.

Judge Jeremiah Mahoney (one of the New York mayoralty candidates) will make no speeches tonight. . . . He called 'em all off to go see Farr and Louis. . . . Rip Collins, injured Cub pitcher, didn't get worried when he did a little "pre-race Tuesday" scouting on the Yanks' Tuesday.

They looked lousy. . . . May-be they showed the Ripper a little more yesterday. . . .

Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, the Negro tap dancer, has been a special guest at Joe Louis' camp for a few days. . . . His jokes keep Joe in good humor. . . .

Dorothea Lawrence, the opera star, who goes in for archery, is trying to steam up the American Olympic committee to foster an archery championship in the 1940 olympics.

"Some big league writers are boosting Oscar Melillo of the Red Sox as manager of the St. Louis Browns next year. . . .

Visiting big shots here for Louis and Farr include Tom Galt and Herman Taylor, Los Angeles and Philadelphia promoters. . . . Taylor will be recalled as the guy who actually brought $100,000 in cash to New York to guarantee a Jim Braddock-Joe Louis fight in Atlantic City. . . . This is no way we saw the dough and never wanted to turn hand it so badly in our life. . . .

Tommy Farr is so scared the London promoters be run out on are going to attach his share of tonight's receipts he made Mike Jacobs deposit $60,000 in a safe deposit vault and give Tommy the key. . . . Boy, will there be a dash to the bank the minute Farr comes to. . . . Or maybe before if he can trust anyone else with the key of that lock box.

Neenah Draws Shawano in First Tournament Game

NEENAH — The Neenah Merchants, who hold first place in the Northern Valley league, are scheduled to clash with the champions of the Shawano County league in their first game at the state baseball tournament at Milwaukee Saturday afternoon.

Neenah's scheduled league game with Menasha Eagles Sunday has been postponed and probably will be played on a Sunday morning later.

Besides Robert Jerome, Russ Menning and Orville Schultz, the three regular pitchers, the Merchants will use two hurlers from other teams in the Northern Valley. Alden VanderBoof, Green Bay, and Buster Brown, Menasha.

Other members of the nine who will make the Milwaukee trip include: Jim Christofferson, c. Gilbert Haufe, cf. Louis Gamney 3b. William Handler 1b. Edward Gartzke ss. Kenneth Handler 2b. Johnson, utility. Marvin Olson, manager. Howard Cheslock rf. Roy Babcock lf. and Richard Hanson, mascot.

Besides the Menasha conflict the Merchants have to meet Oshkosh and Appleton. The Merchants hold a half game lead over the Oshkosh Cabs.

CYO Boxers Victors In 11 of 16 Fights

Chicago (AP)—South America's amateur boxing champions headed for home today with an even break in two tournament engagements to show for their first invasion of the United States.

The sturdy youngsters who won five of eight titles in the Pan-American games at Dallas, Tex., recently, were defeated last night in 11 bouts to 5 by Catholic Youth Organization champions of Chicago before 45,000 spectators in Soldier Field.

The South Americans, champions from Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay, won the hearts of the spectators by their aggressiveness and talent, as well as their sportsmanship in accepting without complaint two adverse and questionable decisions.

Fourth Game of Series Scheduled for Friday Evening

ALL-STAR PLAYOFF
Americans 3, City League 0 (fortell).
Americans 3, City League 2.
City League 10, Americans 7.

THE American City league All-Stars got back into the series with the American league last night at Roosevelt school field when they unloaded a barrage of hits in the first two frames that made the Chino-Jap row look tame by comparison. The score was 10-7.

It was the first City league victory in three starts and means that the fourth game of the 5-game series will be played Friday evening at which time the City league hopes to even matters and make the fifth game, probably Sunday morning, the deciding contest.

Last week when the series started Ole Lorenz took the mound for the American league and was treated badly. Last night he again tried his stuff and the City leaguers found it much to their liking. In fact they liked it so much that they counted five runs off Ole before he departed and continued

THAT OTHER SERIES
The third and final game of the all-star series featuring the Church and Fraternal leagues will be played at 5:30 this evening at Roosevelt school diamond. The teams have won one game each with the Church loop taking the first, 7 to 6, and the Fraternals the second, 7 to 5.

with two off Howie Branchford who relieved him in the second they added three more off Branchford and he later gave way to Joe Heible.

Firing Starts
The ball game opened with R. Ripple first to bat for the City league. He singled, Frank Grosser drew a walk and R. Choudoir walked. Cy Burton followed with a double and then Paul Grishaber homered and Ves Gregorius did likewise. Another run also scored before the side was retired.

In the second frame Arnie Kelly erred for the Americans and Ves Gregorius singled and Chick Grishaber hit his homer to give the City loop a 10 to 0 edge.

The Americans got two of their runs back in the last of the second on a single by A. Feltz, who was on and two out. The fourth inning saw four runs. W. Strutz singled to start things and then Lloyd Schroeder dumped a long drive on the cars in left for a homer. C. Mortell walked and stole second and moved to third when Gregorius let the ball get away. Kranzsch singled to count Mortell, stole second and counted on DeYoung's hit. The latter went out trying to pilfer second.

The final American run came in the seventh after two were out. Schade was safe on C. Grishaber's error, stole second and scored on Kelly's triple to right.

Doc Spears Counting on Three Appleton Youths

TOLEDO, Ohio—Making roast leg of veal serve the purpose of the time-honored bottle of champagne, the Gridiron club met here at a noon luncheon the other day to launch Dr. Clarence W. Spears on his second season as football coach at the University of Toledo.

The good doctor was the guest of honor, the principal speaker and not better than sixth or seventh among the 30 present in the wholesale consumption of roast veal.

The businessmen of the city, or that cross-section thereof represented by the Gridiron club, had it in mind to find out what, if anything, Dr. Spears professed to have in line of football material for this fall, and the doctor told them, with frank optimism.

It is barely possible some of you who knew and followed Spears back in Wisconsin are interested in knowing how he is getting along, what his prospects are for the immediate future and whether he definitely is committed to staying here and devoting his talents to making the University of Toledo a power in the collegiate football realm.

The answer, on all three counts, is yes and no.

Doc himself told the Gridiron club he had the best freshman team in the history of the school. He said that he would have a better freshman crop than he ever had at Wisconsin.

He went on to explain that, this year, his line would be somewhat improved, but that his backfield may represent a problem. Among the gridders he is counting on are a Negro halfback named Craig from somewhere in Ohio and four Wisconsin boys. He is thinking of shoving Tony Popp of Appleton from fullback to end and may plant Mel Buesing, another Appleton boy, at the other flank. Archie Van Ryzin, a third Appleton High school graduate who put in a year of basketball at the U. W., figures to be among the leading quarterback candidates, and Johnny Petraskus of Racine is the best right half prospect.

Doc's schedule this year includes Bluffton, Georgetown, Ohio Wesleyan, Akron, Miami, Wayne, West Virginia and St. Xavier, and they seem to be expecting him to beat everyone with the possible exception of West Virginia. Next year, they say, he'll have Purdue or Notre Dame, or even both, on his schedule—if he's here next year. He's reported to be earning $4,200 here, and one source of information reports that he can go back to West Virginia at $6,000 when he pleases.

THE WEEK'S GAMES

Monday—Fraternal All-Stars versus Church All-Stars at Roosevelt field.

Tuesday—Y. M. C. A. 12, Eagles 5. Wednesday—Moose 13, Foresters 1.

Friday—Jaces versus Eagles.

GEORGE FAUK rejoined the Moose softball team last night and as a result the altered team is champion of the Fraternal league today. Faulk allowed the Foresters four scattered hits, fanned twelve and walked one and his mates took heart in affairs and banged out a 13 to 1 victory. It was the first title for the Moose in league history although last year they finished second.

The Foresters scored a run in the first of the first but the Moose came back in their half the inning with two runs on three hits, one of the blows being a homer by Weber.

In the fourth the Moose landed on the Foresters with both horns and counted eight runs on seven hits and two walks, one hit being a homer by Gebheim. In the fifth Gebheim again homered and in the sixth two hits and a walk produced another pair of runs.

The Moose now will compete for the city championship and play the winner of the Woolens-Valley Iron game next Wednesday night.

Milwaukee Woman In Quest of Title

Heavyweight Championship Bout Postponed to Monday Night

Principals Must Weigh in Again Before Title Go

Rain Causes Championship Battle to be Put Off Until Next Week

BULLETIN
New York—(AP)—The heavyweight championship fight between Joe Louis and Tommy Farr, scheduled for tonight, was postponed until Monday night because of rain.
The 4-day postponement was announced by Promoter Mike Jacobs shortly after the rival fighters weighed in, at the offices of the state athletic commission.
The Welsh challenger had a nine pound advantage on the scales, weighing 207 to 198 for Louis.
Because of the length of the postponement, the fighters will be obliged to go through the official weighing-in and examination ceremony again on Monday.

BY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Tommy Farr, the sour citizen from Tontoyandy, didn't need a crystal gazer or anybody else to tell him this was going to be a big day in his life when he climbed out of bed down at Long Branch, N. J., this morning.

Some time after 10 o'clock tonight (eastern daylight time) something very big is going to happen to Tommy, if it doesn't rain. Either he's going to get splattered all over the Yankee Stadium infield by Joe Louis, an eventuality ardently desired by most of those who know Tommy well, or he's going to come out of the ring a rich man.
If he escapes the fireballs Louis throws at him for 15 rounds, the Welshman might go back to bed tonight the new champion. Outside of Farr himself, however, the only man around town who came right out and picked the pugnacious challenger to lift the crown was a visiting British sports writer.

Nearly unanimous
With this one important exception, opinion was well-nigh unanimous that Farr, the carnival scrapper with the disposition of a turpentine tomato, would get his come-uppance somewhere between the third and eighth rounds. The betting has been around 3 to 1 for the last couple of days that Louis, the youngest heavyweight champion ever, will win his first title defense by a knockout.

Nobody has paid much attention to the pledge of eye-witnesses that Farr isn't anywhere near the ham-donnie he has looked in training. They don't much care how good he might be, to tell the truth. They who worship at the shrine of Joe Louis' punch don't much care about anything. So far as can be discerned with the naked eye, they've forgotten completely what Max Schmeling did to Joe.

"Anybody Louis hits," they say, "he knocks his block off. Farr can be hit, can't he? Well, yes."
That is about the extent of the experting that has been done on tonight's bout, which should gross a stake of about $250,000 and attract some 30,000 customers.

The literature from the rival camps has related, respectively, that Louis was walloping his sparring partners, knocking out two and three of them on special feast days, and that Tommy Farr was getting madder and madder at his manager, at his press agent, and at everybody, in fact, except Shirley Temple. She didn't visit the camp.

George Swamp Hurls No-Hit, No-Run Ball Against New London

With only one man reaching first base on a walk in the ninth inning, George Swamp pitched himself into the record books at New London last night and the Forster team won, 4 to 0.
Swamp hurled no-hit, no-run ball for the Appleton aggregation and fanned 19 batters. He loosened up long enough in the final frame to give Hoffman a walk.

Forsters scored once in the seventh, twice in the eighth and once in the ninth inning. Otto Kirk got a home run while Ves Gregorius hit a double. Hoffman pitched for New London and allowed seven hits while striking out thirteen and walking none.
The Forster squad will meet a team not as yet selected at 8:30 Friday evening on the lighted E. John street diamond. Eddie Mitchell is slated to perform on the mound while Hibel will do the receiving.

HEAVYWEIGHTS GO INTO HUDDLE

Tommy Farr's training camp at Long Branch, N. J. looked like a heavy-weight boxers' convention as the Welshman approached the end of training for his fight with Joe Louis. Shown here, left to right Max Baer and Jim Braddock, former champions, Farr and Harry Willis. Perhaps they gave Farr the dope he needs to win, but Louis is an overwhelming favorite.

Double Loss Cuts Cub's Lead to Mere Two Games in National Loop

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
THE Cubs met the enemy—and couldn't get away from them. Even if they'd been in the next county, it's doubtful if those Chicago clouters could have gotten the Giants out of their hair yesterday as they blew both ends of their doubleheader with the second-place New Yorkers. They kicked away a 5-run lead in the opener and a 1-run edge in the nightcap, which shaved their National league lead to a mere two games.

As a result, the National league race seemed headed today for a photo finish, with enough room riding to make it look like a rodeo, and with the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis' reviving Cardinals the outsiders that may decide it.
Even a couple of startling performances in the American league couldn't take the spotlight yesterday. For one, there was Bobby Feller, looking like a real pitcher, fanning 16, allowing four hits and hurling the Indians to an 8-1 victory over the Red Sox in the opener of a twin bill, the nightcap of which went to the Boston, 7-2. For another, there was a major league record equaled when the Tigers' outfield didn't have a fielding chance as the Detroiters drubbed the Athletics 10-4.

Bucs to Meet Giants
The 4-game series the Pirates opened with the Giants in a twin bill today assumed all the importance of a motor in an automobile. If the Bucs, who belted the Bees, 6-0, behind the continued classy flinging of young Russ Bauers yesterday, can get over the habit of "stoozing" for the still crippled Giants, there's going to be a lot of fun before they move away from the Harlem.

And when they finally go along, the Giants will have to get ready for those Cards, who are beginning to get pitching of sorts. Lon Warneke and Si Johnson were the right sort yesterday and had the Dodgers breaking their backs as they took a twin win, 4-2, and 5-2.
Behind 7-2 in the ninth inning of the opener, the Giants' chances looked like Tommy Farr's, but the Cubs infield blew up Jimmy Rippe hit a homer, and the score was all even as five unearned runs poured across. They won out in the 11th, 6-7 in the nightcap, the Cubs got away in front again, but Joe Moore and Hank Leiber took care of that little detail with homers that produced a 4-2 win.
The Yankees held their 10½-game American league lead with a 10-5 trouncing of the ex-jinx, Thornton Lee, and their Chicago White Sox. The Senators outlasted the Browns for a 7-5 edge. The Phillies and Reds were rained out.

Find Another Medwick In Four Other Players

Morrisstown, N. J.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' expeditionary force, curry-combing New Jersey in search of another Ducky Medwick, decided today there just isn't any such animal.
"But if you want to look at it this way," offered Charley (Pop) Kelchner, veteran Card scout and discoverer of the original Ducky, "We found a Medwick all right—but he's four other guys."
What "Pop" meant is this: After a 2-day postponement by rain, the Cards' tryout camp for aspiring ball players opened yesterday. Out of the romping mob of 400 youngsters, "Pop" recognized a Medwick trait in four of them.
One boy could hit like Medwick did when he was discovered, but he couldn't run, field or throw. Each of the others excelled in one of these departments.

Budge, Mako May Bump Into Riggs, Coghlan

Brookline, Mass.—(AP)—The third stage in the tennis road Don Budge and Gene Mako are traveling in defense of their national doubles titles at Longwood looked hazardous today with Los Angeles' young giant-killers, Bobby Riggs and Bernie Coghlan, lurking in their path.
Riggs and Coghlan enacted David's role to perfection yesterday when they eliminated the highly regarded British entry of G. Patrick Hughes and Charles E. Hare, 4-6, 6-4, 11-9, 10-8, while the champions were being carried to five sets by unseeded but inspired Gardner Mulloy, Miami, and Alfred Jarvis, Tenny, N. J.

Fischer Leads 16 Survivors in National Meet

Cincinnati Golfer May Not Relinquish Amateur Crown

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—Champion Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, giving no indication he intended to relinquish his crown, led 16 survivors into the withering fire of the third and fourth rounds of the National Amateur golf tournament at the Alderwood club today.

An even dozen were doomed as "also rans" by nightfall, leaving four to move into the 36-hole semifinals tomorrow.

All of the remaining sharpshooters were capable of making the grade but most prominently mentioned were Fischer, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, Harry Givan of Seattle, Edwin Kingsley of Magna, Utah, and C. Ross Somerville of London, Ont.

Other survivors of the original group of 171 included two former champions, two former Walker cuppers, and six others who have held important titles at one time or another.

The former champs are Chick Evans, who won the national in 1916 and 1920 and Somerville, the Canadian expert who captured the crown in 1932.

Walker Cuppers Win
The Walker cuppers still sailing along were Reynolds Smith of Dallas, Texas, and Don Moe of Portland, Texas. Givan also is a former cup team player.

Goodman, the strongest pro-tournament favorite, won the national open in 1933 and probably scored the biggest upset in golf when he eliminated Jones in the first round of the 1929 tournament. Kingsley was Utah state champion from 1932 through 1935. Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie is New York state titlist. Charles Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., was 1936 national intercollegiate winner.

Two of the biggest upsets pushed Albert (Scotty) Campbell of Seattle, a heavy favorite and 1936 Walker cup representative, and Roger Kelly, Los Angeles, Calif., medalist out of the competition in the first round.

Campbell's buddy, Ward, did him dirt on triumphing, 1 up. Ward carried on to dispose of Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, 5 and 4.

Third round pairings: Kingsley versus Smith; Billows versus Kocsis; Straff versus Fischer; Ward versus Haas; Day versus Somerville; Rogers versus Goodman and Moe versus Givan.

HILBERT LOSES FIRST PLAYOFF GAME WITH STOCKBRIDGE

It would almost appear from the above picture that Les Hillmann, Hilbert pitcher and first baseman, is about to arrive safely at first base in the first game of the Eastern Wisconsin league playoff yesterday at Chilton. But a second later the ball landed in the hands of M. Schumacher, the Stockbridge first sacker, and Hillmann was just another out. Hilbert lost the game, 6 to 0, getting only two hits off Jess Poppy, Stockbridge hurler. Stockbridge earned the right to show in a Milwaukee tournament by the win but will have to beat Hilbert again to win the Eastern Wisconsin pennant. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Hilbert Loses Chance to Enter State Baseball Meet

HILTON—Hilbert baseball team of the Eastern Wisconsin league, second round winners, won't be in Milwaukee when the state tournament begins because the boys yesterday afternoon muffed that opportunity when they bowed to Stockbridge, first round winners, by a score of 6 to 0. They got only two hits, one of the scratch variety and the other a fairly legitimate single.

However, the Hilbert squad isn't entirely down in the dumps for it still has a chance at the Eastern Wisconsin pennant. Yesterday's game was revealed as the first of a game series. The other contests will be played on Sundays after the tournament.

Les Hillmann took the mound for the Hilbert squad yesterday but he wasn't right and went away in the third frame when the Stockbridge hitters were touching him rather freely. Al Suttner replaced him and finished the game allowing two hits.

Foxy-cheeked Jess Poppy had the Hilbert batters completely upset and when they didn't look bad swinging at his offerings they were hitting rollers or fly balls to Stockbridge infielders and outfielders. Poppy gave up one hit to P. Albers and the other to Schroeder, the latter blow coming in the ninth.

In the big third inning for Stockbridge the fireworks started when Poppy got a single and scored when J. Schumacher walloped a drive through right field to the track and scampered all the way home. Schoehn then drew a walk and when M. Schumacher got a safety, Les Hillmann departed and Al Suttner took his place.

A wild throw from third to first added to Hilbert's troubles and another run scored and a moment later C. Hemauer drove a grounder down shortstop way and another error resulted in the fifth run of the frame. There were three hits, five runs, two errors and a walk during the period.

Hilbert got a couple runners around to third but Stockbridge had the side out before they could get any further.

Neenah High School Band Gets New Cadet Uniforms

Neenah — New uniforms have been received for the 75-piece Neenah High school band. The musicians will be gaily dressed in the brightly colored suits for the approaching football season, concerts and other activities.

The uniforms are strictly West Point style and are in contrast with the dull shades of the former band regalia. They also comply with the school's colors, red and white. The trousers are of white broadcloth trimmed with a red stripe and gold braid down the seams. The red fitted jacket, decked with round gold buttons and braid, is also of broadcloth. Red is the predominant color in the hats with a large gold star and white plume to complete the attire.

Five drum majors have been appointed to lead the band for this year by Lester Mais, music instructor. They are Ellis Rabideau, Donald Erdmann, Beverly Simcox, Harriet Thernansen and Neil Rasmussen. Three drum majors will perform at one time. The drum majors have special uniforms of plain white broadcloth trimmed with gold braid and buttons. The only difference in the drum majors' uniforms from the other suits is the tails attached to their jackets. The white fur coats with red plumes will tend to give them height.

The uniforms used last year will be given to the junior organization which includes about 50 members. The high school band will begin rehearsals Sept. 7.

Two Neenah Men Enter Boat Race

The derby will start at Waukegan in the morning and finish in Neenah late in the afternoon. A complete list of entries for other events on the program will be published Monday.

It was voted at a breakfast meeting at the Lions club committee in charge of the celebration today to hold a junior dance at the Riverside park pavilion in the afternoon with F. J. Hauser in charge.

Map-Celebration Of Constitution Event at Neenah

Tree Will be Planted at High School, Committee Decides

Neenah — Plans were made at a meeting of the United States constitution sesquicentennial celebration committee at the city hall Wednesday night to plant a tree at the Neenah High school on the opening day of the celebration, Sept. 17.

The national committee in charge of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution suggested that each city and village in the United States plant a tree in dedication to the signing of the document. Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs informed the committee.

High school students and the people of the city are expected to take part in the opening day event and an out of town speaker will be secured for the occasion. There was some doubt expressed by members of the committee, however, that a tree planted at this time would grow as rapidly as at other times of the year. The type of tree was left to a committee comprised of the Rev. Joseph VanBogart and Armin Gerhart, high school instructor, who is in charge of the conservation program at the school.

Plan Other Events — During the 14 years of celebration, other events will be promoted, it was decided at the meeting. Fred Bentzen and Miss Helen Arneemann were selected on a committee to contact the management of a local theatre to secure a moving picture which will be released soon to appropriate to the subject.

Mrs. Helen K. Stuart was selected to secure out-of-town speakers for the various events.

Miss May Hart, librarian, will be requested to make a display on the constitution in the lobby of the library for the opening day.

The various educational programs which will be held during the celebration period will be climaxed with a huge program in which a nationally prominent speaker will be secured to talk here.

Mr. Bentzen was chosen secretary of the committee.

The mayor informed the group that the celebration was non-political.

The other members of the committee are John W. O'Leary, the Rev. W. R. Courtenay, Norton J. Williams, A. C. Haseloff, S. N. Pickard, Albert Joyce, J. M. Beisenstein, and W. B. Bellock.

Vote $17,000 for New Sewer Work

Menasha Aldermen Approve Appropriation at Special Meeting

Menasha — A resolution appropriating $17,337 for additional sewer projects in the city was adopted at a special meeting of the council at the city hall last night at which Alderman M. J. Grode, president of the council, presided.

This amount is 55 per cent of the total estimated cost of the proposed project. The other 45 per cent, amounting to $14,933 would be paid by the public works administration. Included in the project would be an intercepting sewer on Edgewater Drive, a storm sewer on Manitowish street and a sanitary sewer on Sixth street.

A committee composed of Alderman Clement Newcomb, chairman of the street committee, Alderman Earl Sauter and City Engineer A. E. McMahon was appointed with full power to act at the meeting with the Twin Cities sewage commission tomorrow afternoon concerning the matter. It is expected that bids on the projects known as Divisions F-4 and F-5 will be let at the meeting.

High School Gridders to Begin Practice Next Week

Menasha — The season of end runs, off tackle smashes, and strutting drum majors between halves will have its opening in this city next Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock when the Menasha High school football squad turns out for its first practice on the Buttes des Morts field.

Equipment will be issued and lockers assigned to the players next Tuesday in the Buttes des Morts gymnasium. Before a boy can obtain his equipment, he must file his W. I. A. insurance card, which are being distributed at the high school office on the second floor of the post office.

Fourteen lettermen, led by Al Kolassinski, halfback, and Eldon Grumm, tackle, co-captains, will form the core of this year's squad. Coach Nate Calder said yesterday that the 1937 Bluejay team will have a heavier line than last year's but a lighter backfield. The Bluejays finished third in the 7-team Northeastern Wisconsin conference last year, with a percentage of .500.

Calder will have nothing to worry about in the center of the line, for Bervan Schneider, all-conference pivot man, is returning.

Letter Men Return

Other lettermen are as follows: Fred Yaley, tackle; Joseph Michalewicz, center; Jack Finch, half-

Attendance Dropping at Neenah Municipal Beach

Neenah — Ole Jorgenson, life guard at the municipal bathing beach, said today that the bathing season is just about finished.

Attendance at the city beach has dropped off considerably during the first three weeks of this month, with the average attendance for this week being about 150 a day. Swimming is confined mostly to the early hours in the afternoon, providing the sun is shining. At other times, however, the beach is generally vacant of swimmers.

Classes in swimming for beginners and advanced swimmers and junior and senior life saving classes were finished last week.

Depends on Weather

Weather conditions will determine whether the swimming season will be extended beyond Sept. 1, the date when the city council set as the official closing time at the beach, the life guard said.

There was a sudden decline in attendance at the beach during the first three weeks of August. In June there were on the average 455 persons at the beach every day. The same high average was maintained during the following month when an average of 454 persons sought relief from intensive heat at the municipal bathing spot.

An average of 300 bathers a day during the month of August probably will not be reached, Jorgenson said.

Menasha Society

Menasha — Miss Mildred Pankratz and Miss Margaret Stilt will represent the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Patrick's Catholic church as delegates to the summer school of Catholic studies in Providence High school, Chicago, Ill., beginning Sunday, Aug. 29. Sister Constantine of St. Patrick's school, will make the trip with the girls.

Neenah-Menasha Oddfellows and Rebekahs will make their annual pilgrimage to the I. O. O. F. home in Green Bay Sunday, Aug. 29 and members of both orders have been urged to attend. The home is a square of between 45 or 50 of whom will be upper classmen. Only the upper classmen will be given suits Tuesday and participate in the first week of drills. The freshmen will start after the opening of school which will be Sept. 7.

Prospects Bright

Coach Christoph said that Neenah's prospects for the 1937 season in the western division of the Northeastern conference appear bright at this stage. He expects about 33 men who were on the squad last year to return for the coming season.

Equipment will be made ready for the opening of the season this week. Some new equipment will be purchased and present jerseys will be lettered.

Although the Red Rockets did not have such a good season last year as far as wins and losses are concerned, having won two games, lost three and tied one, the Neenah eleven erased any blemish when they climaxed the season with a 12 to 7 victory over Menasha. Neenah also won both of its non-conference games. The Red Rockets scored a total of 87 points against 44 for their opponents during the 8-game schedule.

None Badly Hurt

Some sort of a record was established last year in that none of the first string players suffered serious injury and no timeouts were taken during games for injuries to players.

Those on the squad last year who are expected to return include: Ends—Don Bentzen, Art Krause, Kenneth LaBumbard, Roman Zimmerman.

Tackles—Charles Zingler, Eugene Voeckel, Richard Larson, James Anderson, Lynn Werner.

Guards—Robert Vandewalker, Alvin Staffeldt, Douglas Nelson, Lyle Lilliecar, Russell Langner.

Centers — Lawrence Lambert, Harold Borenz.

Fullbacks — Edsel Birdsall, Warren Kettering.

Quarterback—Stillman Dieckoff, Harold Bunker, Vernon Schultz, Elsie Rabideau, Jack Meyer.

Rotarians Hear History of Doty Cabin at Neenah

Historic Structure Fits Pioneer Period of State, Leaman Says

Neenah — Giving the history of the Doty Cabin and a brief biography of Governor James Doty in an address this noon to the Neenah Rotary club at the Valley Inn, Harvey Leaman, high school instructor who has been in charge of the cabin this summer, said that "homes of all times have depicted much of the individuality of the persons who have inhabited them, their hopes and desires, trials, hardships and tribulations as well as their success or failures."

The Doty Cabin is significant of the history of Wisconsin and Neenah. Carved from natural oak it is a direct link between the present and the not too distant past, and its solid logs seem to prophesize the success of the state, he said.

"For national memorials we have the Washington home and the Lee estate, but these establishments do not fit the pioneer period of Wisconsin as does the Doty cabin," he stated.

3,200 Visitors

Open to the public since June 14 more than 3,200 persons have inspected the historical structure, according to Mr. Leaman. He said an attempt is being made to establish the home as it was when Doty lived in it by completely furnishing the house with furniture of that period.

"Governor Doty was born in Salem, Washington county, N. Y., on Nov. 5, 1799," Mr. Leaman informed the Rotarians. "He had no wealth and no formal education but was a great reader. The pioneer was a friend to the whites as well as the reds."

"In 1818 he moved to Detroit where he studied law and served on the Territorial council and was clerk of courts under Lewis Cass, Michigan governor. At the age of 22 years he started to practice law before the Washington Supreme court. He married Sarah Collins in 1823. She was from New Hartford, N. Y."

Three Children

Mrs. Doty gave birth to three children, two sons and a daughter. Charles is said to have been the first white child born in Wisconsin. He lived in Menasha and later moved to Illinois. James dwelled while on a Washington territorial expedition, and Mary married and lived in Oshkosh.

The governor was appointed judge of the territory west of Lake Michigan by President Monroe in 1823 and in 1838 he represented Wisconsin in congress. He was appointed governor in 1841. It was during his administration that action started to make Wisconsin a state.

In 1861 Lincoln appointed Doty superintendent of Indian affairs and four years later was appointed governor of Utah which office he held until his death June 13.

At one time Doty purchased 100 acres of land on the east end of Doty island for $6 an acre.

stock market today that swept leading issues down 1 to 5 points. In addition to the wounding of the diplomat, Wall street's pessimism was further aggravated by Japanese threats to include neutral shipping in the blockade of the China coast, the breakdown of railway wage negotiations, and a cloudier outlook for a brisk pickup in business this fall.

Steels and rails led the retreat, but all departments were affected. Commission houses with foreign connections reported offerings of American stocks from abroad were much larger than in recent sessions. Transfers climbed to around the 1,000,000-share mark.

Bonds emulated stocks, with U. S. government securities down sharply.

Outstanding share losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngs-Town Sheet and Tube, Sloss-Sheffield, Inland Steel, Crucible, American Rolling Mill, National Steel, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Atlantic Coast Line, General Motors, Chrysler, Yellow Truck, Goodrich, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Under Wave of Selling

New York—The selling wave on the stock exchange spread to the curb market today, with specialists leading a general decline.

Off a point to three points were Aluminum Company of America, Technicolor, Paperrell, Carrington Corporation, General Tire and Rubber, American Cyanamid "B" and Bliss.

In the utility group, Electric Bond and Share, American Gas and Electric, Arkansas Gas and Electric and other issues were down fractional.

Federal Reserve Bank Cuts Rediscount Rate

New York—The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced today a reduction in its rediscount rate to 1 per cent from 1 1/2 per cent, effective tomorrow.

The 1 1/2 per cent rate had been in effect since Feb. 2, 1934, when it was cut from 2 per cent.

The rediscount rate is the charge made by reserve banks to their member institutions when the latter borrow funds to relend.

Reactions Again Cut Wheat After Earlier Advances

Profit-Taking and Easing Of Commitments Are Chief Factors

Chicago—Wheat prices advanced briskly for a time today because the trade was enthusiastic at Liverpool strength and Far East war news, but reactions later erased the bulk of price gains.

Wheat was almost 24 cents a bushel at one time, but a general inclination to lighten commitments coupled with profit taking pulled quotations down to around the day's lowest levels.

Wheat closed at approximately the opening levels, 11-11 1/2 cents above yesterday's finish, Sept. 1, 1936, 1.081-1, and corn finished 1/2 cent lower to 1 1/2 cents higher, Sept. 1, 1936, 1.081-1, and oats closed unchanged to 1 cent higher.

State Willing to Help New London End Flood Menace

Davlin Says Highway Commission Will Cooperate in Feasible Plan

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The state highway commission is prepared to cooperate in any feasible plan to remedy the frequent floods of the Embarras river at New London, according to Thomas F. Davlin, chairman of the commission.

Mr. Davlin also announced that the commission will hold a hearing in New London within the next sixty days to determine the necessity for a new bridge to replace the ancient structure which now spans the river at Pearl street in the city. A delegation of New London officials met with Davlin and other state highway officials this week on the proposed new bridge and the city's river flood problems.

City officials told the commission that the periodic floods had been aggravated by the construction by the commission of Highway 54 several years ago, which, entering the city from the west, cut through a piece of lowland which had served as a reservoir. Highway engineers at the commission office yesterday expressed the doubt that the highway had any appreciable effect in accentuating the flood troubles, but the commission, according to Mr. Davlin, is willing to assist in any feasible plan developed by the city to solve the problem. The commission also may contribute a nominal sum, he suggested.
